

DWYER MAY BE NAMED AS MAYOR OF SAN FRANCISCO!

TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENCE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—A long and significant conference was held this morning at the office of Attorney Hiram W. Johnson. There were present Rudolph Spreckels, J. J. Dwyer and District Attorney Langdon. The utmost secrecy was maintained at the meeting. It had to do with the selection of a new mayor for San Francisco. It was considered of sufficient importance to keep Mr. Langdon from the graft trial during the entire morning. "I never allow myself to be quoted," said Mr. Dwyer after the conference, "for personal reasons. I cannot express myself on the present circumstances." "You will have to ask the district attorney," was Attorney Johnson's only reply to questions as to what transpired in his office. Mr. Langdon slipped quietly away and could not be found after the conference. He did not go to his own office nor to the court room. "I do not know what is going on," said Mr. Heney. An impression prevailed that a successor to Mayor Schmitz has been pretty closely determined on. The mayor is to have his application for bail considered tomorrow morning. Even his attorneys hope for little from Judge Dunne. "There is little use," said Attorney Fairall, "in making more than a formal application here." With the mayor permanently confined the time is considered ripe by the prosecution to bring forth the new mayor. The closeness with which Mr. Dwyer is following all movements of Mr. Spreckels and the prosecution, allied to the other reasons which have given prominence to his name, is looked upon as significant.

SCHMITZ INDIGNANT OVER POSTPONEMENT OF BAIL ARGUMENT

Court Insists Upon Delay, and in the Meantime Convicted Mayor Must Answer Other Charges.

(TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENCE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—Mayor Schmitz appeared in Judge Dunne's court this morning to apply for bail and to answer on the two indictments in the trolley and gas deals.

The hearing on the application for bail was postponed until tomorrow morning, on request of District Attorney Langdon. The District Attorney said he had not had time to examine the affidavits filed by the Mayor, and would like time to make a counter showing.

"We served notice yesterday," suggested Attorney Fairall, "that we should ask for bail." "Yes," replied Mr. Langdon, "but the affidavit came to my office late yesterday afternoon, and I did not see it until a few minutes before ten this morning."

"Let it go over until tomorrow," ordered Judge Dunne.

ANOTHER SETBACK.
Attorney Drew then timidly advanced the request that the Mayor be allowed to visit his attorney's offices for the purpose of consultation.

"No. I cannot allow it," said Judge Dunne very curtly.

Then he added by the way of reproof:

"I suggested yesterday that I hoped no more requests of this kind would be made here."

"It is necessary, your honor," objected Mr. Drew, "that he should be allowed to assist in the preparation for trial on the many other indictments brought against him."

Judge Dunne shook his head. Attorney Drew continued his argument which was abruptly cut short by Judge Dunne, who, unceremoniously, called the next case.

ARE INDIGNANT.
Mayor Schmitz fled out with his attorneys, all of them in ill-surprised indignation over the decided snubbing that had been given them by the court.

The mayor was rather nervous this

Church and Homes Wrecked by Tornado

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., July 9.—A tornado swept the country near Alda, in southern Knox county, Sunday night, injuring four persons, one fatally, and destroying several buildings. The home of Eli Olsen was wrecked. Olsen's mother was fatally injured. His wife had several ribs broken, and his six-year-old daughter received serious injuries. The Lutheran church in Columbia was wrecked and a score of small buildings blown down. Crops were damaged by hail. Telephones were destroyed and communication interrupted.

Sailors Object to Bean and Fish Diet

The members of the crew of the brig Harriet G., which is moored at Adams wharf, are indignant and threaten to file complaints to form the basis of an investigation by the proper authorities. They claim that they endured hardships on the last trip of that vessel, and for the last eight days were compelled to live on beans and salmon. "To add to their discomfort, the tobacco supply gave out the same time that the coffee and bread supply was exhausted."

He was married to Miss Robinson on March 31, 1905.

DEPARTMENT IS TO STRENGTHEN COAST DEFENSE Millions to Be Expended

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
CHICAGO, July 9.—A dispatch from Washington says: There is to be no delay upon the part of the War Department in utilizing the appropriations made at the last session of Congress for fortifying the American dependencies in the Pacific Ocean.

In order that the keys to these possessions may be put in condition for defense as rapidly as possible, the department is arranging for the transportation of ordnance material purchased for American coasts to Hawaii and the Philippines and will replace it at once with funds which became available on July 1.

The appropriations included $200,000 for the construction of sea-coast batteries in the Hawaiian Islands and

THIRD MYSTERIOUS DEATH AT THIS BABY FARM

ALAMEDA, July 9.—Early this morning the third baby died at the baby farm of Miss Ella McTheeters at 809 Pacific avenue. City Chemist Cunningham, who is making an analysis of the brains and stomachs of the two infants who died on Sunday, will not be ready to make known his findings until the completion of his work some time tomorrow. Until he has completed the analysis the coroner's office will be unable to take any action, though Coroner Tisdale is still investigating.

Police Chief Conrad finds the case of such moment that he is personally working the police end of it. He has been unable, however, to discover any suspicious circumstances in the death of the three infants, and is also waiting until City Chemist Cunningham concludes his work.

Dr. L. W. Stidham performed an autopsy on the body of the babe that died this morning. The brain and stomach were removed and taken to the chemist at the city hall. This infant was a boy a little over two months of age, and it is said his mother's name is Hallstone. Miss McTheeters says she knows nothing of its parentage other than that the mother resides in the country.

The woman declares she is unable to account for the recent deaths at her baby farm. She asserts that the babes must have died from something they ate, or drank, and is inclined to place the responsibility on the milk. Until City Chemist Cunningham makes his report no action will be taken.

The inquests on the three cases are set for Friday morning.

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The seventh, eighth and ninth jurors to try Vice-President Louis Glass, of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company, for the bribery of Supervisor Charles Boxton, were accepted this morning in Judge Lawlor's court, subject to peremptory challenge.

Ten veniremen were examined during the session. Several of these were excused for cause, several of them by consent of opposing counsel. The three who withstood the tests for qualification are Isaac Grant, real estate agent; Jacob Wertheimer, wholesale liquor dealer; Franklin White, retired. The latter was for thirty years in the service of the regular army, and for a time was stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco as orderly sergeant.

LAWLOR TAKES A HAND.
The examination of William M. Jenkins, a machinery dealer, and a member of the Metal Trades' association, occupied the last hour of the morning session.

Judge Lawlor took a hand in the task of determining Jenkins' state of mind with regard to bias confessed by him against the prospective testimony of any of the self-confessed bribe-takers among the supervisors.

Over the objection of the defense Mr. Jenkins was finally set aside on the prosecution's challenge.

Neither District Attorney Langdon or Assistant District Attorney Heney was in court at 11 o'clock when Judge Lawlor resumed the Glass trial. The judge refused to delay proceedings and directed Assistant District Attorney O'Gara to proceed with the examination of veniremen. Six jurors were accepted and sworn yesterday, the opening day of the actual trial.

FIRST TALESMAN
John Martinian was the first talesman to come before the batteries of the prosecution and the defense this morning. He said the defendant was guilty, and very strong evidence to the contrary would be required to convince him of Glass' innocence.

"If O'Gara, do you insist on this juror?" asked Mr. McKee, of the defense, in a surprised tone.

"I have every confidence in Mr. Martinian," replied O'Gara. "You have heard him say that if accepted and sworn he would lay his opinion aside and give the defendant a fair and impartial trial. When he says that I believe him."

CHANGES IN THE S. F. GAS COMPANY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—Several important changes were made in the management of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company today. Frank G. Drum has been elected president of the company, vice John A. Britton.

The change, however, does not affect Mr. Britton so far as the general management of the affairs of the corporation is concerned, for the reason that Mr. Britton is made president of all the operating companies.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company is the holding company.

Mr. Britton has made good in his position and will continue his work the same as he has done in the past. So far as he is concerned his standing is practically the same as it has always been.

C. W. Conlisk, who is secretary of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, will present his resignation in order to engage in a private enterprise. He will attend to the business of R. F. Hotaling.

John Martin and Eugene de Sabia have moved their offices from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's building to downtown offices. This does not mean, however, that they have severed their connection with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. They are simply moving their offices down town in order that they may have places of their own where they can attend to their private business.

FOUR CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH; PARENTS INJURED

SUISUN, July 9.—The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Campbell of Suisun valley lost their lives last night in the burning of their home. One of the children, a boy, was taken from the house by the hired man, but ran back to warn his family and was burned to death.

Burned to death: Cecil Campbell, aged 12; Ruth Campbell, aged 11; Francis Campbell, aged 7; Donald Campbell, aged 1 year 6 months.

Injured: Charles Campbell, Mrs. Charles Campbell, Frank Chinn.

When Mr. and Mrs. Campbell awoke the house was a mass of flames. They made frantic efforts to save their children, but could not do so.

The parents are badly burned; but will recover.

The origin of the fire is not positively known, but it is believed to have been caused by the explosion of a coal oil lamp which was kept burning all night. The flames were first discovered by Frank Chinn, a hired man, who slept in an upper room with the eldest Campbell boy. When awakened by the fire, which was raging fiercely, he grabbed the boy and leaped from the window. When he struck the ground he fell, and on attempting to rise found that he had sprained one ankle.

The boy broke from his grasp and in an attempt to warn the rest of the family ran back into the house, where he perished.

WIFE CHARGES HUSBAND THREATENS TO KILL HER

All the qualifications of a "rough house" are featured in the grounds on which Josephine Baptiste asks a divorce from Joseph Baptiste. The wife declares her spouse is a heavy drinker and tells of many occasions when he came home staggering under strong drink and threatening her life. She says that on one of his carousals he entered the home and, picking up a razor, made a run at her "with blood in his eye." She claims that the man crowded her against the wall and was just about to draw the steel across her windpipe when an unknown something softened his heart and she is still alive to tell the tale.

In the divorce complaint filed this morning Mrs. Baptiste says they were married in Martin in May, 1900, and have a six-year-old son, named Lawrence, whose custody she asks. The couple have lived in Oakland the greater part of their married life. The first outbreak of family troubles commenced in June, 1904.

IS DISQUALIFIED.

After a wrangle between Martin and McPike along the line of the former's opinion of guilt, the juror declared that if the case were to go to the jury without any evidence, he would vote not guilty. "Then you are clearly disqualified," then you are clearly disqualified," Martin stood aside.

Hugo Waldeck, merchant, was excused by consent after a brief examination by the court. Mr. Waldeck confessed bias and gave business reasons why he should not be required to serve.

Isaac Grant, real estate agent since the fire, priorly a druggist, told Mr. Heney, who had arrived in the courtroom for the examination of the first venireman, that he would regret the necessity of convicting Glass, but if the evidence showed him to be guilty, he would not hesitate to so vote. He was accepted tentatively as the seventh juror.

Jacob Wertheimer, wholesale liquor dealer, in a very brief examination proved himself acceptable to both sides. He was retained on the panel as No. 8.

EXCUSED FOR CAUSE.

Alfred H. Siegfried, merchant, had an opinion which he thought could not be set aside. He was excused for cause.

Franklin White, retired orderly sergeant of the regular army, and a veteran of the Civil War, a quiet, keen, white-haired man, who punctiliously suffixed "sir" to every answer, had served two years as a juror in Judge Dunne's department of the Superior Court, and in the present case he had tried the criminal cases in Judge Lawlor's department. He had formed no opinion of the guilt or innocence of Mr. Glass, he had no feeling that either side ought to win, and he never had any trouble with the Pacific States Telephone Company. He was accepted as the ninth juror.

Miss Margaret Haley Fails to Reach Convention With Opposition.

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—Apprehension upon the part of delegates was relieved, and incidentally a large part of the public interest in the proceedings of the convention was dissipated, when shortly before noon today dispatches were received from Chicago saying that Miss Margaret Haley had decided not to come to the convention and had remained in Chicago. The program of those who are at the head of affairs in the association will now go through undoubtedly without opposition, which was expected from Miss Haley.

The National Council spent its second day's session in reading and discussing papers. The paper which produced the most discussion and the largest interest was the one upon the shortage of teachers. The general consensus of opinion among the educators upon this subject was the fact that the requirements are too high and the remuneration too low; the lack of a future and the confining nature of the work.

The discussion of moral education brought out a strong protest against unrestricted foreign immigration.

The session of the department of Indian education was one of the most interesting of the day. The fifty Indian children from Sherman Institute were put through various exercises under the guidance of their instructors for the entertainment of a large audience at the State Normal School. The children also gave demonstrations in cooking and in cutting and sewing.

George Stokes didn't think he was on the assessment roll. "We have a question mark opposite your name on our list," said Mr. Heney. "You may stand aside," said Judge Lawlor.

The examination of William M. Jenkins, a machinery dealer, gave cause to the first spirited engagement thus far indulged in by opposing counsel.

OUR BLUEJACKETS ARE O. K. IN TIME OF WAR

NEW YORK, July 9.—Rear Admiral Evans, who is at the Brooklyn navy yard, has declined to comment on the remarks imputed to Admiral Sakamoto of the Japanese navy to the effect that American naval officers were dandies with no technical training, and that the enlisted men had no patriotism and would desert in case of war.

Admiral Evans smiled at the remark, and said that he was shown him. He said it would be the height of impropriety for him to reply to a foreign officer, especially when he had no means of knowing if he really said the things attributed to him.

"We here, in this country," he said, "don't talk."

BLUE JACKETS LOYAL IN WAR TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Admiral Brownson, chief of the bureau of navigation of the navy department, said today he was satisfied that the Japanese admiral, Sakamoto, who was reported in the Hochi, a Japanese anti-governmental paper, to have questioned the patriotism of American naval officers, has been misquoted. Said Admiral Brownson:

"While spurred on by a spirit of unrest and homesickness, sailors have at times left the American navy, but they have only done so in time of peace. There is no record of a bluejacket deserting in time of war."

TO STRENGTHEN COAST DEFENSES

been made in connection with the cruise of the United States battleships was not justified by facts. He said that the fleet which will be moved from the Atlantic to the Pacific this winter is coming to this side merely on a practice cruise. The fleet will consist of 18 or more vessels, not more than 20, and its stay on this side will not be permanent. Of course the fleet will not come here, turn around and go right back again. How long it will remain in the Pacific will be determined at the proper time.

NO EXCUSE FOR IT.

"There is no sound reason or excuse for all this talk by the public and through the press of an attempt to overawe the Japanese by a warlike naval display. I do not believe the newspapers are justified or right in so construing and coloring the cruise of the warships to the Pacific. The fleet has been sent on a cruise. Last year I went to Guantanamo. This year I will order the fleet to the Pacific. The long cruise will give the men and the vessels a rest and improve the efficiency of both."

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Representatives of Japan, as well as of the United States, regarding the discussion of the talk of war between the two countries. While realizing the danger of unbridled jingoism, they declare that there is absolutely nothing but the best of feeling existing between the two governments, and it seems almost impossible that the equilibrium could be disturbed.

At the Japanese Embassy it was remarked that "semi-official" statements about the negotiation of a new treaty with the exclusion feature could not be discussed seriously, but it can be said here that no such negotiations are under way. No draft of a treaty has been submitted by Secretary Root to Foreign Minister Hayashi, and, therefore, the latter could not have rejected any such proposal.

KINDLIEST FEELING.

The Ambassador declares that there is nothing but the kindest feeling in Japan toward this country, and that this state of affairs would have continued had not American papers printed things about Japan and Japanese which were read there and caused comment.

The Japanese papers replied to editorials advocating exclusion and the feeling was fanned by the discussion. Naval officers of course are glad to speculate on the chances of war, with its accompanying glory and prospective promotions, but the facts seem to be against them.

TOKIO, July 9.—The Asahi yesterday published an interview with an influential Japanese naval expert, who says: "It would be impossible for Japan to onstration in the transfer of the American fleet to the Pacific. This movement is part of a prearranged plan, and is a result of the constant growth of the American navy and the increasing importance of Pacific interests from the strategic point of view."

WOULD ENJOY VISIT.

The Asahi also publishes an editorial setting forth the same views. It regrets that the American fleet cannot visit Japan in order to enable Japan to see the cause of the navy and reciprocate the naval hospitality extended to the visiting Japanese war ships at Jamestown. The paper also urges the abrogation of article II of the existing commercial treaty in order to put an end to the cause of the anti-Japanese feeling at San Francisco.

Almost all the newspapers treat the matter with calmness, finding it is natural for the United States to distribute permanent. Of course the fleet will not come here, turn around and go right back again. How long it will remain in the Pacific will be determined at the proper time.

PARIS, July 9.—The French government greatly deprecates the alarmist view of the Japanese-American situation taken by a section of the Paris press, and its statement, based primarily upon the Foreign Office advice, placing the most optimistic construction on the plans to dispatch the American fleet to the Pacific, was given out this afternoon as follows: "The decision of the American government in diplomatic circles over the excitement caused by the plan to send the American battleship fleet to Pacific waters. Instead of the step causing alarm there is reason to believe that the decision of the American government implies that negotiations pending between Washington and Tokio cabinets are making favorable progress."

The American government beyond doubt would not order this naval movement if it was likely to embarrass the negotiations which have been going on for some time between the two governments."

CLEVELAND, July 9.—Play for the national amateur golf championship commenced this morning over the Euclid links. The entry list was so large that it was well into the afternoon before the last pair drove on.

LEAPS FROM OBSCURITY TO BE GUEST AT FAIRMOUNT

What Cheer House Night Clerk Comes Into Great Fortune and a Title by the Death of His Brother.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—Grehve Casimir Sparre, who for years has been night clerk at the What Cheer house, intended moving from his little room in a Third street lodging house into more spacious and luxurious apartments provided in the Fairmount.

The leap from obscurity to light is due to the death of Sparre's brother, who was a count, and possessor of a fortune of 4,000,000 francs. The title and wealth passed to Grehve when the Count of Soldeborg, his eldest brother, and the latter's wife met a violent death.

Sparre is a native of Sweden. His brother went to France several years ago with little else than his title. He settled in Bordeaux, where he met and married Mlle Adele de Villefleur. She had the distinction of being the daughter of the wealthiest wine manufacturer in that section of Europe. Her dower was 4,000,000 francs.

The couple had been married only a few months when they boarded their yacht with a party of friends, for an extended voyage off the coast of France. The yacht ran into a storm and was upset. The count and the countess were both drowned.

At once there was begun a legal battle for the 4,000,000 francs. The countess's relatives claimed that the money should come to them, and Sparre, the brother here, put in a counter claim. For five years the legal battle was waged in the French courts. At the last hearing the preponderance of evidence supported the contention that the young countess had died first.

Letters received from Sparre's attorneys in Paris state that the case virtually is won and request that he start at once for France.

Sparre says that he will return from Europe to live in San Francisco. He is now an American citizen and places little value on his title.

Sparre is a man of fine appearance, about 40 years of age.

TESTING LAW ON THE EXPRESS RATES

LINCOLN, Neb., July 9.—Judges of the Supreme court today took under advisement the application of Attorney General Thompson, who requested that all the express companies in the state be enjoined from charging the old rates. The State alleges that the Sibley law, cutting rates 25 per cent, is in effect, and that the companies are disregarding it. A decision is expected tomorrow.

THOSE OREGON GIRLS

who were disappointed in what they saw in New York, especially in Broadway and the buildings they expected to see on that much-vaunted thoroughfare, were going through Broadway for traditions and expecting thrills. Perhaps it is too much to expect too much of a country girl who would go through Broadway for thrills and expect the traditions, but that course would doubtless have taken the edge from their disappointment. It is well to know that they were pleased with Washington and with what they saw at East Aurora, Erie county, N. Y., where one Fra. Ribbertus burnt the midnight oil. But Broadway in Oakland is good enough for me.

PICKPOCKETS GOT $34,000

Story Told by Bank Messenger Who Emerges From Hiding—Not Arrested.

NEW YORK, July 9.—H. J. Wilson, the messenger of the First National Bank who disappeared several weeks ago, collecting $34,000 in checks and $1700 in cash has appeared before representatives of the bank and the company which was on his head and explained to them in detail how he lost the bank's property. Wilson was induced by friends who believed in his honesty to emerge from his concealment and tell his story.

Wilson was not placed under arrest, nor will he be, unless investigation should prove his story false. The officers of the bonding company are practically convinced of the truthfulness of his statement.

Wilson claims his collections were stolen by a pickpocket. When he discovered his loss he fled, fearing to face possible arrest and disgrace.

KEEPS HATCHET UNDER PILLOW WHILE ASLEEP

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—Extreme cruelty was the ground upon which Mrs. Ellen Chase sought a divorce in Judge Graham's court yesterday, from her husband, John G. Chase, a carpenter, whom she had married twenty-five years ago. She testified that her husband spent all his money for liquor and although he was able to support her, he had compelled her for the last ten years to work in a laundry to earn enough money to keep her from want. He made it a habit, she said, of sleeping with a hatchet under his pillow, with which he often threatened her. She also said that he sometimes compelled her to get up at midnight, or later, and cook food for him. Attorney Charles S. Peery, counsel for Mrs. Chase, brought out testimony to show that the house in which the Chases lived belonged to Mrs. Chase. The case was submitted.

AERONAUT THOMAS WILL SAVE HIS LEG

NEW YORK, July 9.—The condition of Dr. Julian P. Amputation of the leg is regarded as unnecessary by the physicians at the hospital where Dr. Thomas is a patient.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

A theatrical manager was holding forth on the value of publicity the other day and pointed his moral with this:

"When the teacher was absent from the schoolroom, Billy, the mischievous boy of the class, wrote on the blackboard:

"Billy Jones can hug the girls better than any boy in the school."

"Upon her return the teacher called him up to her desk.

"William, did you write that?" she asked, pointing to the blackboard.

"Yes, mam, said Billy.

"Well, you say that after school," said she, "as punishment."

"The other pupils waited for Billy to come out and they began saying him:

"Got a hugging, didn't you?"

"Nope," said Billy.

"Got jawed?"

"Nope."

"What did she do?" they asked.

"Shan't tell," said Billy, "but it pays to advertise."—Des Moines Register and Leader.

WHERE COAL COMES FROM

Luzerne county produced nearly 40 per cent of the total production of anthracite coal in the United States during the year 1906. Its output was 26,266,978 tons, as compared with 26,656,315 tons in 1905, and while there is a decrease of 388,337 tons it does not detract from Luzerne's position as the most fertile anthracite field in the country. The decrease can be accounted for principally by reason of the suspension last April and May, when the miners were idle for six weeks while negotiations were going on between the mine's and operators which ended in a continuation of the award of the strike commission. The cost was estimated at $100,000 in the counties of Carbon, Columbia, Dauphin, Lackawanna, Northumberland and Schuylkill.—Philadelphia Record.

RELICS OF REVOLUTION.

During the excavation of a Castine, Me., sewer the other day, one of the workmen dug out two nine-pound shot which it is thought may have been fired from the British warships or from the American gunboats in the harbor during the occupancy of the town by the English forces. W. A. Ricker has them on exhibition in his window together with one of the copper tokens issued in about 1838, which were also found by the same workman.

What Quality Means

Among the best beers, the differences are not largely due to materials. 'Twould be folly to skimp there.

Most differences in taste are due to the skill, or the lack of skill, in the brewing. And to the yeast.

But quality refers, above all, to the purity. Pure beer has no germs in it, and it does not cause biliousness. It is not only good, but good for you.

Purity is rare because it is costly. And because its lack is not easily noticed. But in Schlitz beer it is the first requirement.

Ask for the Brewery Bottling. Common beer is sometimes substituted for Schlitz. To avoid being imposed upon, see that the cork or crown is branded

OPENING OF COLLEGE INN A GRAND SUCCESS

There was plenty of music, decorations and a good dinner at the opening of Charles Newman's rehabilitated College Inn last night. It was all that had been anticipated in every line and successful in every feature.

Among the diners were representatives of all sections of Oakland's people, the society people, officials, city dignitaries and most of the prominent business men of the city. Every one was pleased with the affair and all congratulated Mr. Newman upon the splendid and artistic decorations. Music was furnished by a string orchestra, with several vocal solos and a quartette. Handsome floral offerings marked the appreciation and remembrances of friends. The dinner was one of Mr. Newman's best efforts, which tells the story. The fun lasted for hours, the public taking up the celebration when the invited guests left off at 9 o'clock.

TO CALL OUT TELEGRAPHERS IN CHICAGO AND THE EAST

Attempt at Peace Conference in Oakland Fails—"Future Moves Forcible and Decisive," Says Small.

OAKLAND, July 9.—Assistant General Superintendent R. N. Miller of the Western Union Telegraph company refused to meet a committee of striking operators this morning in the telegraph office at Seventh and Day streets. The superintendent did not even permit them to enter, and sent a note to the outside telegraphers who were waiting for him outside the telegraph barn, surrounded by several policemen. Miller stated that he could not meet the committee as a whole, but only as individuals. He stated that he would be willing to consider each individual application made to him for reinstatement, but under no consideration of circumstances would he receive telegraphers from the union. He refused to recognize the union telegraphers. This is in accordance with directions issued by the directors of the company and board of directors.

The committee was composed of the following prominent employees of the Western Union Telegraph company in San Francisco and Oakland: Mr. J. M. Dowell, J. C. Jones, H. Sweet, G. H. Gilbert, E. F. Waring, H. C. Sherrill, A. W. Kirk, K. G. Jones, J. O'Brien, A. S. Hale, Mrs. Doretta Yoell, Miss Brandt, C. Berg and G. Paul.

SMALL'S STATEMENT. President Small of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America issued the following statement:

"Assistant General Superintendent Miller had agreed to meet this committee at employees of the company, with Judge W. W. Allen as their counsel. When they appeared at the appointed time they were handed a note from Mr. Miller stating that he would meet them separately, and would only re-employ such of them as he saw fit.

"I have been trying for two weeks to bring about a conference without asking the recognition of the union. I have the few days I have purposely refused to talk about the matter to reporters, fearing that the Western Union office might take it to mean that we were forcing recognition of the union through the press. Unfortunately several of the newspapers quoted me as saying certain things, when, in fact, I had not seen their representatives at all.

"I feel absolved from further responsibility, inasmuch as I have made every effort before and after the strike occurred to bring about a conference. In future we will have to pay less attention to the feelings of the opposition than public opinion, and carry on our fight with more determination and with the one object in view that of crippling the enemy until they are willing to meet us in a peace conference.

"The Council of Labor Commissioner Neill and three members of our general executive board will not change my plans. Future moves will be forcible and decisive.

President Small will leave tomorrow for the East, where he will evidently call on strike in Chicago and other Eastern cities.

'DUFFER! GUY!' SHOUTS WOMAN TO OFFICER RUESS

In Spite of Mrs. Annie Monet's Protests, Probation Officer Is Given Charge of Wayward Son.

The dignity of Probation Officer Christopher Rueus was assailed this morning in Superior Judge Ogden's court when Mrs. Annie Monet of Alameda applied the title of a "duffer" to the guardian of wayward children.

The court room presented far from the quiet scene that is generally the case. When Mrs. Monet was called to the stand to testify as to the alleged delinquency of her little son Carroll, she broke into a rage that the judge and bailiff could scarcely subdue. She said that her charges about him wrecking the Southern Pacific train in Alameda were nothing more than "bores" and that the child who was being persecuted by the police and probation officer.

ACCUSES RUESS.

In company with Frank Davis, a lad of fourteen years, young Monet is said to have attempted to wreck the train on the following night the train was derailed and young Monet arrested on the offense. When in jail he admitted tampering with the switch, but Chief of Police Conrad of Alameda was ready to let the boy out of jail according to Mrs. Monet. Instead of doing so, he was kept in jail until the afternoon his release was granted. Mrs. Monet said she was dejected because she had to cook dinner for her husband when she visited the jail on the following morning she said on the witness stand.

There were indications Rueus had taken the boy to the juvenile hall at the Receiving Hospital in Oakland.

Mrs. Monet displayed outbursts of temper throughout the hearing, and when it was mentioned that the boy might be placed in some institution she said she would not have him in a place that Rueus was working for.

"My husband and I are not going to have that guy there say where my child shall go," shouted the woman.

She also showed the youngster's school department card, which bore excellent marks. Rueus will have charge of the boy until he is placed in an institution.

Young Monet is also accused of having fought shrimps and snails and had them charged to Mrs. Hichins at 1251 Pearl street, Alameda.

PORTUGUESE WOMEN'S SOCIETY OF ST. ELIZABETH IS NOW HOLDING SESSIONS

MARIA A. S. LEMOS SECRETARIA SUPREMA

RITA A. RODGERS THES. SUPREMA

M. C. TAVARES ACTUAL PRESIDENTE SUPREMA

Three Hundred Delegates From All Parts of America Are Now Assembled to Commemorate the Seventh Anniversary of Their Organization.

The grand annual convention of the Portuguese Women's Society of St. Elizabeth is now in session at the Macabbee Temple, where nearly 300 delegates from all parts of America have assembled to commemorate the seventh anniversary of their organization, and to venerate the memory of St. Elizabeth, queen of Portugal. St. Elizabeth's society is one of the largest fraternal societies in American and since its founding it has been a benevolent institution. It is composed of seventy-two councils, all of which are well represented at the convention, which is to be in session five days.

The convention opened with a unique parade, which started from Saint Joseph's Portuguese church on Chestnut street, where a high pontifical mass was performed by the Rev. Bishop Don Henrique da Silva of the diocese of India. After mass an eloquent sermon was preached by the Rev. A. M. Souza.

A feature of the procession of the grand officers and delegates was the display of banners of the various councils and branches of the society. Some very elaborate banners were exhibited and attracted much attention from the passers-by, who gazed upon the magnificent works of art as they were carried aloft in the parade as sacred emblems of the order. After the feast the supreme officers and delegates marched to the Macabbee Temple, where the first session of the convention was opened at 2 o'clock. The afternoon was devoted to the roll call of officers and delegates, the seating of the delegates, the reading of reports of the convention committees, the reading of the minutes of the last annual convention and the presentation of a number of amendments to the constitution and by-laws of the order.

BANQUET IS GIVEN. The customary banquet at the close of the first session was given in Castle Hall Monday night, at which the supreme officers and directors were the guests of honor. Toasts were delivered and interesting impromptu speeches were made by the grand officers and the leading members of the board of directors. The purpose of their speeches was to awaken love for their mother country, Portugal.

Regular sessions of the Supreme council will be held every afternoon and evening for five days, and at the conclusion of the convention supreme officers for the ensuing year will be elected. The evenings will be devoted principally to sociability. The supreme officers and delegates are to be the guests of honor at a theater party to be given at Idora Park on Thursday evening. On Wednesday evening the grand annual ball will be given in Castle Hall. The supreme officers and delegates are to be in full dress. Exceptionally fine will be the music rendered during the evening by a select orchestra.

NAMES OF GOULD'S WOMEN FRIENDS ARE KEPT IN DARK

NEW YORK, July 9.—Mrs. Howard Gould has failed in her efforts to get the Supreme Court to allow her to bring the names of Howard Gould's women friends into her separation action. Through a curious error it was believed Justice McCall had decided against Gould, but this evening a careful examination of the decision showed this was not so. It is practically certain that Mrs. Gould will appeal.

So certain was every one that Mrs. Gould would be permitted to use the names of a score of women that Gould's friends were declaring in this belief that Delancy Nicolli would appeal.

Mrs. Gould wins one point in the first move of her suit. She will be allowed to tell the full story of how Gould had her watched by detectives. Nicolli, in his general motion made several weeks ago, asks that certain portions of Mrs. Gould's complaint be stricken out on the ground that they were scandalous and irrelevant. Long arguments were heard on the introduction of testimony concerning Gould's alleged misdeeds with other women, the opening of her mail bag by one of Gould's employees and the way in which detectives trailed her.

By the McCall decision Mrs. Gould will have to confine herself to narrow legal limits in her case.

DRIVER LUKAS SUCCEEDS IN MARRYING HIS ANNIE

Bold Breweryman Circumvents Relatives of His Sweetheart and Carries Off Bride in Triumph.

Henry O. Lukas, twenty-five years old, the brewery wagon driver who demanded that a search warrant be issued for the recovery of his bride-to-be, won the battle against the retainers of his sweetheart, and now Annie M. Hilmann, aged twenty, is his wife, despite the fact that her husband says the young woman's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Arendt, tried to withhold her from him. Lukas found his sweetheart this morning, and went to the County Clerk's office, where a marriage license was procured. The couple next journeyed to the courtroom of Justice of the Peace Geary, where the nuptial ceremony was performed at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

BATTLING FOR SHARE OF MARY E. MURPHY'S ESTATE

Two New York Women Present Claims Many Years After Wealthy Decedent Passes From This Life.

For more than seventeen years there was no response from the heirs of Mary E. Murphy, deceased, who left an estate of about $100,000. Now Margaret Nash and Kate Foster of New York have come forward, saying they believe they are the heirs of Mrs. Murphy, who was formerly the a nursery garden on High street in New York, but when it came to today's continuance was made in the matter until August 16. Should the claimants make good their connection with the family of Mrs. Murphy they will come in for a share of $12,000 between them.

Mrs. Murphy died in February, 1890, leaving an estate of about $40,000. According to her will one-third of her personal property was to go to her heirs, if she had any, but none were specified in her will. She appointed Attorney R. M. Fitzgerald, who is her godson, executor of the will. Fitzgerald sent about 14,000 notices to postmasters all over the United States and advertised in every possible manner for any claimants, but got no reply until recently, when Margaret Nash and Kate Foster, through Attorney F. Mehrbach, pressed their claims.

CLAIMS RESISTED. As they do not show to the satisfaction of Fitzgerald that they are the heirs of Mrs. Murphy, their claims are being resisted. Attorney George Reed, representing heirs of John P. Murphy, Mrs. Murphy's husband, who died a few months after she did, is also resisting their claims.

A letter written by Mary Clennon, which was Mrs. Murphy's maiden name and a photograph purporting to be her likeness, are the chief pieces of evidence for the claimants. They say they were found in their family.

Former Assessor Thomas Malloy, who lived with the Murphy family for twenty-five years, testified that the handwriting in the letter was not that of Mrs. Murphy. He also said she was married many years before 1864, the date of the letter. The photograph bore no resemblance to her, he said. Other testimony introduced by the claimants is to the effect that they had an aunt named Mary Clennon, but Mrs. Murphy was not this aunt.

BAPTIZED IN 58. Attorney Fitzgerald testified this morning that he was baptized in 1858 and he knew Mrs. Murphy to be here at that time and to the best of his knowledge she did not leave here. He is quite positive that Mrs. Murphy was never in New York in 1854, as is claimed by the women who think they are Mrs. Murphy's nieces.

Further discussion and more evidence will be required before Judge Ogden will be able to render a decision. Another search will be made into the family statistics when the matter comes up again next month.

How John Bull Views the Case

Uncle Sam: This here 4th of July celebration racket may be all right, but bl gosh if the annual list of casualties keeps on increasing I reckon we will be paying pretty high for our freedom.

John Bull: Yes, Sam, your annual human sacrifice is giving us our revenge doncherknow.

CARRIES BLACKJACK; DISTURBS THE PEACE

When Policeman Kyle saw George McGinniss enter Goldwater's pawn shop, he was attracted by the man's appearance and watched the proceedings within. He saw McGinniss looking at a revolver, and when he came out and entered the saloon next door, the policeman followed him and placed him under observation.

At police headquarters he was found to have the revolver and a blackjack on his person. As the revolver was not loaded no charge of carrying a concealed weapon was made against him, but he was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 or be imprisoned three days in the county jail for disturbing the peace. McGinniss said he was a Furleyite and had been employed by the United Railroads in San Francisco as a strike breaker and at present is awaiting transportation from the street railway company to his home in Chicago.

CONFIDENTIAL CLERK STEALS; NOW INSANE

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Douglas Dawson, accused of having stolen $1750 from the William Hoegge Commercial company, by whom he was employed in a confidential capacity, was today adjudged insane and ordered confined in the State asylum at Patton. Further action in the criminal proceedings will be deferred until Dawson's affliction is pronounced incurable or until he recovers.

ENDS LIFE WITH GAS.

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—Charles Powell, a baker's apprentice, 24 years old, committed suicide last night in the bakery where he was employed, by inhaling gas through a rubber tube which he had fastened to his head so that it would remain in place. Powell is said to have relatives in Altona, Pa.

Wife in Politics; Spouse Tries to Die

LONDON, July 9.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Daily Mail says that the husband of one of the women deputies in the Finnish parliament tried unsuccessfully to commit suicide, and the reason he gave for such an attempt was that his wife was so occupied with political work that she neglected her home. The misery to which he and his family were reduced, he said, drove him to desperation.

CROOKED DEAL, SAID TAYLOR

Real Estate Agent Horswill Now Under Examination Charged With Conspiracy.

The preliminary examination of Frank J. Horswill, accused of conspiring with Robert Bonnell, who is now serving a term in San Quentin, to sell fraudulently some real estate in this city belonging to Mrs. Adelaide Murphy Case and Mrs. Anna R. Cook of Honolulu, was begun before Police Judge Samuels this morning.

The lots involved are located at the corner of Tenth and Linden streets, and at Sixteenth and Linden streets. According to the story developed by the prosecution, Horswill was a member of the real estate firm of Kreiss & Horswill, representative to Bonnell that he had obtained deeds to property that he owned in Tuluare county for the lots mentioned in Oakland.

BOGUS TRADE. Desiring to place these lots on the market for sale, it is alleged that Horswill told Bonnell that it would be advisable to use fictitious names, inasmuch as he was a man of means and his ownership of the property might excite suspicion among local realty dealers. He also said that the land in Tuluare county was then flooded and he feared that the new owners might contest the trade. Accordingly, the story continues, Horswill ordered manufacturers of notary seals and a fictitious name, which he affixed to two deeds, bearing the names of Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Case. These deeds were taken to the county recorder's office and entered by Bonnell. Then the lots were offered for sale to Taylor Brothers, real estate dealers. The low price quoted aroused the suspicions of J. H. Taylor, a member of the board of realty dealers. He followed the discovery that the true owners of the lots had not authorized their attempted sale.

BONNELL TESTIFIES. During his trial Bonnell accused Horswill of complicity in the deal. The latter was not permitted to testify before the count of lack of sufficient evidence to justify proceedings. This morning Bonnell testified against his alleged associate. He repeated his story that he had simply acted as an agent for Horswill in the transaction.

BURGERS LOOT OFFICE SAFE

Dentists and Doctors Are Also Victims of Gang Working Skeleton Keys.

Burglars have begun the week with renewed activity. Last evening the store of W. F. Perry & Co., 1601 Fifth street, West Oakland, was entered and more than $50 in currency taken from the safe.

The police are working on the case and it is probable that several suspects will be arrested before evening.

Some ambitious house-breaker has evidently determined to forsake night work and open up a dentistry office. Two hours of dentist's supplies were reported at police headquarters this morning.

The establishment of J. B. Burns, at 129 Broadway, was visited yesterday and the following articles were removed: One automatic dentist's plugger, one hypodermic syringe and a large amount of dentist's supplies.

The Promotion of Mr. Leach.

The promotion of Frank A. Leach to the Directorship of the Mint is a commendable recognition of merit. If faithful, intelligent and efficient service is deserving of reward, Mr. Leach has well earned his promotion. His record as Superintendent of the San Francisco branch mint is in all respects admirable. The tone of his administration has been high class, while the standard of efficiency attained has surpassed all previous records. Moreover, the changes for political reasons have been very few in number and comparatively insignificant, Mr. Leach adhering consistently to the spirit of the civil service law. The high standard of efficiency achieved by the branch mint during his superintendency is doubtless in a considerable measure due to his policy of placing the good of the service above political expediency. Mr. Leach's friends in Oakland, who are both numerous and warm, are naturally rejoiced to see his worth appreciated so highly at Washington.

Californians in general will be flattered that another citizen of this State has risen to a commanding position under the government. California now has a representative in the Cabinet, Secretary Metcalf, who has reflected high honor on the commonwealth. She is represented on the Supreme Bench by Hon. Joseph McKenna, who ranks among the great jurists of the nation. Franklin K. Lane has won his spurs as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. We are confident that Mr. Leach, as Director of the Mint, will justify the trust reposed in him by the President and Secretary Cortelyou.

The national honors reaped by Californians are highly gratifying to the people of Oakland. Mr. Metcalf is a citizen of this town, and so is Mr. Leach. Judge McKenna long represented the Third district in Congress, and Commissioner Lane resided for years in this city and studied at the State University. Oaklanders may certainly express with becoming modesty their pride in the achievements of these four men who have reached stations of national prominence, for not one has failed to answer the loftiest expectation. Mr. Leach will not fall below the example of the others. THE TRIBUNE compliments both him and the President on his promotion.

Oakland's Greatest Commercial Need

Bonded warehouses are among the most pressing commercial needs of Oakland at this time. The lack of custom bond and Internal Revenue bond warehouses places Oakland merchants at a great disadvantage, entails upon them much inconvenience and considerable unnecessary expense. They are compelled to keep goods in bond in San Francisco and pay excessive storage charges.

This is a matter that deserves the prompt attention of the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants Exchange and business men generally. The services of Senator Perkins and Congressman Knowland ought to be enlisted in an endeavor to supply this city with repositories for goods in bond. No doubt Secretary Metcalf would use his good offices in our behalf, though such matters are within the domain of another department. There is no reason why Oakland should be denied the ordinary facilities, or rather permission to supply itself with them, for cheap and expeditious handling of commerce. Oakland is a sub-port of entry. A deputy collector of Internal Revenue is also stationed here. There should be bonded warehouses as well. They are necessary appurtenances of trade.

The Collector of the Port and the Naval Officer should assist Oakland in this matter. Mr. Stratton and Colonel Irish are both citizens of this city, and are conversant with the situation here. Sentiment as well as public reasons should spur them to aid the commercial development of Oakland. They cannot be suspected of discriminating against this city to favor a few warehousemen across the bay, for that would be unjust as well as disloyal to their own town.

As we understand it, capital stands ready to build bonded warehouses in Oakland in case the Secretary of the Treasury will grant the permission. Surely this permission can be obtained if the right people will take hold of the matter and make the proper representation to Secretary Cortelyou. Here is a chance for those who represent Alameda county in public life to do something that will materially benefit their home city.

Bishop Turner on the American Flag

Bishop Henry M. Turner, the senior Bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church of America, made an intemperate speech attacking the people and the flag of the United States at the annual session of the New York conference, held in Brooklyn on June 29. He criticized the President severely in speaking of the Brownsville incident, charging that the dismissal of the colored battalion of the Twenty-fifth Infantry was dictated by race prejudice.

"I used to love the American flag once myself," the Bishop declared. "But I now despise it, because America is the most horrible color-prejudiced nation on earth. Here Negroes can be lynched, burned alive and skinned, and nothing is done about it."

"I know that I have been criticized and called a fool because I believe in Negro nationality, but I don't care any more for my critics than I do for the bark of a dog."

"Here we are proscribed because of the whimsical prejudice of misanthropes, and we are just sitting down and whining. We must get up and move to Africa, and I don't apologize for advising the Negroes to leave a country that is saturated with prejudice."

No one is likely to object to Bishop Turner going to Africa or advising others to go there, but as long as he stays in this country he should speak in respectful terms of its President and its flag. He should also be more just in his criticism of his white fellow countrymen, for while the Negroes have suffered much wrong and injustice in America, they owe the greatest advance the race has ever made to America and Americans. This country did not make the African a slave. Slavery was a domestic institution in Africa thousands of years before America was discovered, and still exists wherever European nations have not abolished it by force. No body of Negroes in the world equal in numbers have risen to the same plane of civilization and material comfort as the one on which the African race in America stands. If Bishop Turner would compare the condition of the Negroes in Africa with that of the Negroes in America he would find more food for congratulation and less for condemnation in his reflections.

Despite the lynchings and discriminations which the Negroes now suffer, they have much to thank the white race for. The Southern States are dotted with colleges and schools erected and endowed with money donated by white people. Notwithstanding the marvelous energy, tact and administrative ability of its founder, Tuskegee Institute, the greatest Negro seat of learning in the world, could never have been made what it is but for the money and good will given it by the whites, not a few of them Southerners. Its splendid endowment is mainly the fruit of white beneficence. Go to Atlanta, Nashville, New Orleans and a score of other Negro seats of learning and ask whence came the money that reared the fine buildings in which colored students are gathering knowledge, and with hardly an exception the answer will be that the bulk of it came from white people. Thousands of Negro farmers in the South owe their independent position as land-owners to whites who loaned them credit or money or sold them lands to be paid for out of the tillage of the soil.

THAT AWFUL BRAT NEXT DOOR.

The Negro has suffered much at the hands of the white man, but he also owes a vast debt of kindness to the white man. The Negroes still suffer many wrongs and injustices at the hands of the whites, but the wrong is inflicted by a small minority and is not sanctioned by the majority. The position of the Negro is growing better every day. He is gaining a better footing in life, a broader understanding of the duties and opportunities before him, and a larger measure of respect and legal protection. He has much to gain yet before he obtains the full measure of right and opportunity, but he also has much to learn. But for the kindly encouragement and generous assistance of the white race, his position would be intolerable and his upward advance stayed. There is still prejudice and cruelty to combat, but they are disappearing, and the most effective means of banishing them entirely are patience, industry, dignity, self-control and education. The Negro who wins a competence, an education and mastery over his passions is sure of respect and kindly treatment anywhere. He may receive insult from the ignorant and vicious, but so will the well-bred white man. If he take the position of Bishop Turner and look only at the dark side, refusing to see the bright side or fix his eyes on the dawn of the better day that is gleaming rosy and clear above the horizon, he will be filled with discouragements, broodings and resentments that will stifle his finer nature and chain him to a hopeless condition.

RAILROAD COMPANY MUST DO RIGHT THING

Editor TRIBUNE, Dear Sir: With a view to getting your assistance in obtaining for the people of Oakland like facilities with those enjoyed by the San Francisco public, I would like to call your attention to the hardship and annoyance to which we Oaklanders are put in checking our baggage, say, to St. Helena via Tiburon. The Pacific Northwestern Railroad is now owned by the Southern Pacific, and by putting on a train via Tiburon to the different points on the California coast, a great deal of time and mileage are saved. Hence we Oaklanders who are desirous of taking advantage of same are unable to buy our tickets here to check our trunks, but are compelled to send them over to San Francisco and pay double express tolls, besides being forced to have them ready a half day in advance so that the express company can guarantee that they will be in time to get the 3:30 p. m. boat, and also start a half hour sooner to tend to checking same, etc. As Oakland is rapidly gaining concessions from the railroad that she is entitled to, no doubt, if placed before the Southern Pacific in the proper manner, Oakland would get her rights in this regard. All these things have an influence on visiting residents, whose permanency is decided by the facilities and comforts they find here. Yours respectfully, FRANK KENDALL.

Why, almost everything; our literature, our art, our religions. Nothing we have is so valuable as steam. It is the greatest civilizer the world has ever possessed."

Bernard Shaw is trying to lure authors away from publishers to theatrical managers. He relates that for the number of words necessary to provide a play he receives from a publisher sixty guineas, whereas the theater yielded him $30,000 for the same amount of writing. Publishers, he says, are simultaneously exploiting a great number of authors, while the manager of a theater can only exploit one author at a time. Mr. Shaw adds that he has never known a publisher to become bankrupt because of the failure of his business, but he has known such failure to result from publishers living beyond their means.

WEDDING CARDS, WOW!

Not many people have the courage to admit that the sight of wedding cards in their mails gives them an attack of heart failure, nervous prostration and cold feet, but it's true all the same. The minute our eyes light upon a thick, white envelope, we all have a feeling as if we had just received a bomb that was due to go off in about three minutes and blow us into bankruptcy, for well we know that the joyful tidings that Susie Jones is going to marry Willie Smithers means that we have got to do without something we want and need, to buy them something for which they have no earthly use, and no place to put.

Brides who are looking about for something new and original to do at their weddings, are commended to the example of the wife of young Mr. Schwab, who has turned down a bridal gift of two million dollars.

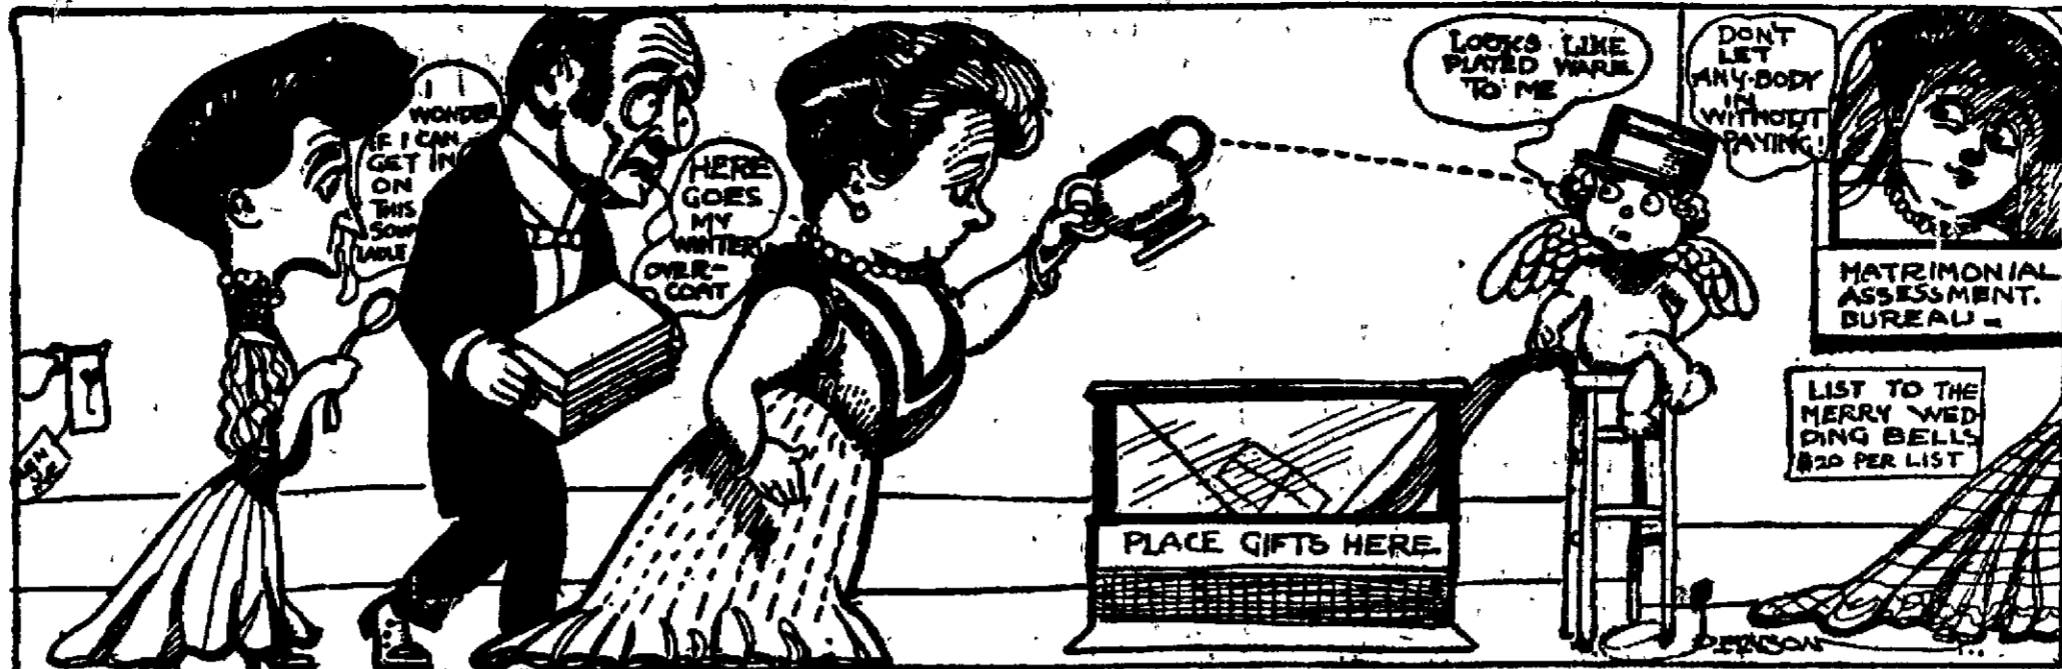

This is the most surprising, amazing, extraordinary, unprecedented act that any bride has ever committed, and it makes all the picture weddings and white weddings, and pink weddings, and Burne-Jones weddings, and weddings with Cupids and flower girls, and pages, at which we have marvelled and gaped, look like thirty cents.

For no bride in the whole history of civilization has ever before refused a wedding present, and the name of young Mrs. Schwab will go thundering down the ages as the one solitary exception to the rule of graft at a wedding.

Bridal Gifts an Imposition.

It is not likely that this noble and heroic young woman will have many imitators, but, oh, what a load she would lift from suffering humanity, and how a grateful world would rise up and bless her and build monuments to her memory, if only she could be the humble means under Providence of abolishing the awful imposition of the bridal present!

The wedding gift is the Moloch before whom we are all sacrificed. It depletes our pocketbooks. It rolls our tempers. It forces us to bestow the thing we cannot afford to give, and nobody wants to receive. It turns friends into enemies, and burdens down a defenceless young couple with useless trumpery that they cannot escape, and misfit furniture that they may neither sell, give away nor split up for kindling wood.

Yet, despite the fact that most of us bestow our wedding presents under protest, and with an inward wall of "here goes my new hat, or my Summer vacation trip," and that the bride receives it with a groan of despair as she wonders what she'll do with the forty-seventh clock, or an Empire chair when all of her parlor furniture is strictly Art Nouveau, nobody has the courage to break away from the senseless custom.

Hurrah for the Pioneer.

Nobody except that bold pioneer in the land of freedom, young Mrs. Schwab, Protector of the Poor! May her shadow never grow less!

On the contrary, instead of giving it out clearly and distinctly, and mercifully, that they are "agin" the bridal present nuisance, it must be confessed that most brides put in the last few days of their maidenhood in working their friends for all they are worth. They don't even wait for one grand final hold-up at the last when everybody is expected to stand up and deliver. As soon as the wedding day is named they begin inciting the easy marks among

It must be confessed that most brides put in the last few days of their maidenhood in working their friends for all they are worth. As soon as the wedding day is named they begin inciting the easy marks among their intimates to give linen showers, and handkerchief showers, and stocking showers, and china showers, until it seems to you that they have precipitated a deluge that will not leave you a single greenback that any dove could find as a sign that the end of your troubles was in sight.

the sight of wedding cards in their mail gives them an attack of heart failure, nervous prostration and cold feet, but it's true all the same. The minute our eyes light upon a thick white envelope, we all have a feeling as if we had just received a bomb that was due to go off in about three minutes and blow us into bankruptcy, for well we know that the joyful tidings that Susie Jones is going to marry Willie Smithers means that we have got to do without something we want and need to buy them something for which they have no earthly use, and no place to put.

Always at the Wrong Time.

This is not because we are stingy, but because we are poor. It we were millionaires we would delight in bestowing a few yachts and automobiles and things upon a happy couple, but it is grinding to have to buy out glass for a wedding gift for people who don't need it, when you are actually in want of tin pans for your own kitchen. And there is no escape, for it is part of the unwritten law of the idiotic bridal present that it must conform to the station in life of the recipient, and not of the bestower.

It is also part of the fiendish malignity of the thing that the time for making bridal presents always happens at the most inopportune season. If the baby

WEDDING GIFT MOLOCH.

The wedding gift is the Moloch before whom we are all sacrificed.

It depletes our pocketbooks. It rolls our tempers.

It forces us to bestow the thing we cannot afford to give and nobody wants to receive.

It turns friends into enemies and burdens down a defenseless young couple with useless trumpery that they cannot escape, and misfit furniture that they may neither sell, give away nor split up for kindling wood.

has been sick and you have had to have a trained nurse, or you are over-worked and need a change of air, or all of your clothes have given out at once—watch out—the bridal present will get you sure. An epidemic of matrimony is certain to break out among your friends, and before you know it you will be jeweling down the girl at the bargain counter where they sell hand-painted plaques, or veneered silver, toothpick holders.

If brides ever got anything they wanted, or if they ever broke even on the giving and receiving of bridal presents, one could understand why they push along the silly custom. But they don't. It takes a couple ten years to malice, and break up, and push out of the house the plebeian conglomeration of trash with which their friends loaded them down when they were married, and five years after she is married any woman can sit down and figure out that she paid out for bridal presents twice over to the people who gave to her the value of her wedding gifts.

Therefore, prudence, common sense and humanity all join hands in backing up the position of young Mrs. Schwab, who refuses to accept even two millions as a wedding present. A good wish is worth more than a grudging gift, and the bride who wants to start forth on her new life amidst the plaudits and blessings of her friends, should have NO PRESENTS printed in big, fat black letters an inch high on her wedding cards.

VICTIM IN NOTED ASSAULT CASE GETS YOUNG HUSBAND

Girl Discovered by Youth in a Colorado Hospital Mentally Deranged From Her Harrowing Experience.

DENVER, July 9.—Whether or not 17-year-old Rose Berger, the victim of Dr. Samuel Orentreich, who was convicted some time ago on the charge of assaulting her, is mentally affected or otherwise another event has taken place in her life's story which shrouds the affair in greater mystery than ever. Betrayed by the man in whom she placed her childish confidence two years ago, made insane by his treatment, she has found another who loves her, and yesterday she was married to him by Justice of the Peace Hudson. This was a young man, Arthur Litman, a clerk, who met her when her mind was almost a blank.

"I was sick in St. Luke's hospital," said the young bride, "and he saw me and fell in love with me right away. That was a year and a half ago, but I know he will be good to me."

When asked as to whether she would appear against Orentreich when his case was brought up for a second trial, she said:

"I will send him to the prison if I can. He wanted to marry me, but because he deserted me once I cannot trust him. I do not love him anyway."

Notwithstanding this, she called upon the physician at his home, 2927 West Fourteenth avenue, last Sunday afternoon to inquire after his health, and the week previous, before he had been released from the county jail by the granting of a writ of supersedeas, she visited him for the same purpose.

"You are so pale," she said to him. "I am afraid something will happen to you."

It was then, she says, that Orentreich asked her to marry him the last time.

As far as the district attorney's office is concerned, the case cannot be dismissed, even though Rose Berger is now a married woman, as this fact does not invalidate the charges against Orentreich.

MY DEGREES

"I wish," said I, "there was a college, A place built expressly for girls, Where instead of the ologies learned, There would be just fads, frivols and curls."

"Oh, indeed!" cried Miss Bright Eyes, head tossing, "A wonderful college 'twould be; What to sweet graduates would you give them In the shape of a college degree?"

"All the usual ones known," did I answer, "And in such a way as would suit."

"What," she asked, "would A. B. mean, I wonder?"

"And LL. D.," then Bright Eyes pouted, "Would that for some wise thing stand pat?"

"That means one is Lov'e's Little Darling— No girl need be wiser than that."

There's M. D., too; that is important, 'Tis Mistress of Diets, you know; In that degree is there much science, For a sage with a good cook can't show.

Ph. D. for Philandering Dear is.

She looked and she laughed and she sighed, "I'll try for M. A. at your college."

"That's My Angel!" I rapturously cried.

6878 "SNIPES" KILLED BY A TEMPERANCE HOST

Accurate Statistics of Campaign to Keep Boys From "Shooting" Cigar and Cigarette Butts Are Given.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 9.—Members of Loyal Temperance Legion in this State during the year trampled upon and destroyed 6878 cigar and cigarette butts lying in the streets. This was reported at today's session of the convention by the anti-narcotic division.

It was explained that members of the organization had frequently seen street urchins picking up cigar and cigarette butts, and, after considerable experience, they found the only way to oppose the practice was by grinding the butts into the mud or dust until they became unusable.

Reports of the work done by the several departments of the legion were given in detail today, and the following officers were elected.

President, J. George Frederick, Reading; first vice president, Charles J. Higgs, Westmore; second vice president, Earl Williams, Lawrence county; recording secretary, Miss Bessie Lar's, Newville; corresponding secretary, Miss Ella Bromvill, Chester county.

What is a Model Wife?

A model wife is one who has enough to do to attend to her own home duties without poking into her neighbors' morals or manners, says Frances Glibreath Ingersoll.

She places housekeeping second to homekeeping; she can lot her abilities in that line speak for themselves without becoming an unvarying table topic or constantly disparaging the "other" woman's. She can be neat without making life a burden to her family; orderly without turning home into prison; and is never ashamed to ask the passing guest to sit at the family table.

She is a woman who reads the daily papers sufficiently to talk intelligently upon topics other than babies' teeth or Johnnie's mumps. She is more interested in the "home circle" than in any "club" for self-improvement alone. She realizes a man's limitations, and knows that "nagging" never developed angelic qualities in anything masculine.

A model wife knows when to "keep silence," and does not "butt in" upon the evening paper with Mrs. A's new hat or B's shameful conduct. She has no room in her house too good for family use; and she prefers "he" should "ruin" the parlor curtains with cigar smoke, rather than himself elsewhere. She fits her and her family's needs to her husband's income and allows him to occasionally spend a cent without giving her a receipt.

She keeps some of her pretty frills and suavity for home. She also knows that the best way to mend this "wicked world" is to keep herself true and clean.

Her husband's trust is in her, and her children rise up and call her blessed.

VICE-PRESIDENT FAIRBANKS SAVES WOMAN FROM DEATH

Jumps in Yellowstone Lake and Coolly Rescues Drowning Waitress Sinking for the Third Time.

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., July 9.—Vice-president Fairbanks is a hero. His long legs and presence of mind stood him in good stead Sunday evening, when he plunged into the lake and rescued Miss Lena Wallace, a waitress at the hotel where he is stopping. Mr. Fairbanks and J. I. Gibbs, proprietor of the hotel, were sitting on the piazza overlooking the lake, exchanging stories, when they saw a boat coming across the lake containing several persons. A piercing shriek alarmed both of them and they noticed that the boat had capsized. Two women and two men were making for the pier, but another woman was floundering in the water. The vice-president leaped over the railing of the piazza and ran to the pier. The woman had sunk twice, and was going down for the third time when he reached her, half swimming and half wading, and seized her clothing. Water was over his head, but he managed to bring the woman in. It required half an hour's work to restore her to consciousness.

HUSBAND FORGOT TO KISS HER AND SHE LEFT HOME

Wounded Pride Is Avenged by Giving the Major Domo Fearful Scare by Week's Absence.

DENVER, July 9.—As quietly as she disappeared, Mrs. W. J. Long of 1523 Park avenue returned home. For seven long, lonely days and nights her husband and children have been waiting for her, fearful of a tragedy, and yet hoping against hope that her absence could be easily explained.

And it was explained: when she went shopping on that eventful day her husband forgot to kiss her, so her pride rebelled and she determined to deliberately cause him pain. She did it—and he, his big heart relieved of its load of care, is satisfied with her explanation.

Now Mrs. Long is confined to her bed with nervous prostration, for the experiment was costly. The week through which it lasted has been spent by her with friends on the North Side.

OAKLANDS SMASHED BALL AT GREAT CLIP LAST WEEK

Van Haliren's Men Stung the San Francisco Pitchers at a Good Gait in Series Just Ended.

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

In last week's Commuters-Beals series, the home team did some very clever stick work and outdid the team from across the bay. On the week's series the Oakland team averaged .343, as against .234 for their opponents.

Big Heine Heilmuller, who is as good a ball player as any team could have when he is playing up to the full measure of his ability, did great work last week.

The big ex-collegian slammed and flattened the ball at 406 gait, and his fielding was a great improvement over the previous work that Heine had on display.

In some quarters we have been accused of knocking Heilmuller. We take exception to this. What we did do was criticize some of Heilmuller's playing, and while we were about it we tried to turn out the best goods in the factory.

That criticism was worth a good deal to Heilmuller. Since we showed Mr. Heilmuller some of his weak points he has done the manful thing and improved wonderfully.

In certain circles all a man has to do is to give the opinion that nestles close to his heart, and some people are sure to slip him the name of a "knocker."

As between the term "knocker" and "fool," we'll take the former. This business of salving players is out of date. If the critics in the National and American Leagues allowed every luncheon play to go unchallenged, it is certain that the high standard of baseball played in those circuits would not be maintained.

A man who has watched baseball for ten years, and knows the plays and players as any fair to middling baseball writer in the East has to, should be able to give his readers the benefit of his knowledge, and a little criticism now and again simply serves to spice his articles.

The blubbery-witted men who are frequently served up to baseball readers in minor leagues is, in a large measure, responsible for the poor article of baseball played in them.

It is the intention of the writer to criticize plays and players freely, and give to the readers of this paper the benefit of what little knowledge he may possess of baseball.

This we hold to be the proper course, and if we have to choose between the odious terms of "knocker" and "fool," we're willing to take chances on the former.

Below is the averages of the San Francisco and Oakland teams for the series just ended.

That the work of Derrick as an umpire has not been above reproach is a patent fact to those who patronize baseball in this section. Derrick has been somewhat off on "strikes" and "balls" and his decisions on base have not been altogether too satisfactory.

Instances are too numerous to mention wherein this member of Cal Diving's official family was a bit awry, and where his decisions were asked.

Some one in power might give to Derrick a little sound and solid advice. He does not get on top of the base plays in the manner which assures the best success.

It's up to Derrick to show a little improvement in his work.

Jack Bliss' improvement in hitting has been the most noteworthy feature of the Oakland team's playing. Since the description of Tom Hackitt, from the Oakland team, the burden of the catching has fallen on the shoulders of Bliss and he has been doing yeoman work for Mr. Walter's team. Bliss has been throwing in a few plays of disconcerting precision, and we don't know of any player or bunch of players who can get away with much on this fine throwing backstop. Bliss' throws are true, and they light in the hands of the receiver as a feather. If any one player in this league is deserving of a full measure of credit that man is Jack Bliss. He has been a hard worker in the good cause, and although he has been overworked at times no one has ever heard the game fellow register a kick. Bliss is a good hitter, a good receiver, and when he gains a little more experience he will make a good man for some of the major league teams. He is a big strong fellow and could stand the hard grinds to which major league catchers are subjected. Of course, Bliss has not the finish that is required of the big league backstop, but he would acquire this easily, as he is willing to be shown.

He is one catcher that would be a good investment for some big league club, and with all his inexperience he is right now head and shoulders better catcher than many of the men who are drawing down salaries in the big league.

It looks as though Alameda is on the baseball map for keeps. Herrmester Schroeder's boys attracted twenty-five hundred to the opening last Sunday afternoon, which is going some.

The hoodoo still continues to hover over about and with Harry Spencer. The lad's batting is not up to what it should be, but we think that when Harry can shake the hoodoo he will get into his best stride.

Spencer has all the qualifications of a great ball player, save and excepting luck. He stands up to the plate like a battered old man in the Coast League, and when things commence to break favorably to him Spencer will begin to climb. He is a natural hitter, but at present is down on his luck. It is to be hoped, however, that Harry will not dally much longer with the hoodoo.

Haley, the St. Mary's College boy, has been doing some excellent work for Oakland. The lad's batting has improved and his fielding is all that even the most fastidious could demand. Haley gets into the plays with vim and vigor and moves around the second cushion with the confidence of a veteran. If this lad continues to improve he will be a great ornament to the Oakland ball club.

Oakland departed last night for a week's session down in Los Angeles. Van's men believe that they will improve their standing in the percentage column before they return home.

Morarity showed some speed last week. "Morey" slammed the ball around the lot to the tune of .379, and easily led the rest of his team mates in this excellent percentage.

Right at 'em Oaks. See if we can't skin those Angels on their own grounds. We know it's hard, but it's worth trying for.

When one considers that Oakland is practically always on the road, that team must be given much credit for its showing in the Coast League. Oakland is nearly always on the enemy's stamping grounds, still the team is in a good position. If Oakland were a home team we are of the opinion that they instead of Los Angeles would be showing the way.

The latest thing in jokes is being started by Happy Hogan. He is going out next season as a bar-tender, circus, or a wash-woman. The answer is washing the tumblers. Wouldn't that jar Max Dill off his perch.

Charley Street was a sight in his white suit, brown chest protector, salmon pink undershirt, striped socks, and bronzed mask. On a pinch Charley might set up as a test for color blindness.

Brick Devereaux declares that he knows the hiding place of John D. Rockefeller, but that he is not tipping anyone off. Brick says it's up to him and "Tiny" to see that fellow millionaires get a shade the best of it.

Truck Eagan knocked a box of coffee out of Jones in San Francisco last Sunday afternoon. Any time a gent makes a home run on the Fresno grounds from now until the end of the season a liberal firm slips him a box of coffee. If the offer holds out until next winter we may expect to see Mr. Eagan's cards printed.

C. Eagan.

Coffee Merchant.

Best brands at reduced rates.

Happy Hogan had a chauffeur put a stitch in his damaged air intake which resulted from the bump Mr. Heilmuller handed to him last Sunday morning.

Bliss and Bigbee are the Busy Bees of the Oakland team. They have both been stinging the ball of late.

SPORTING TALES TOLD BY THE WAYSIDE

THE STORY OF THE STRONG YOUNG MAN AND HOW HE GOT OFF

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

In a certain country where pictures of Jem Mace and Tom Sayers still form the main piece in the mural decorations of sporting parlors and where the story of the bitter fight between Sayers and Heenan is yet a modern and up-to-date topic of conversation, and is every now and then reprinted on the front page of the main sporting paper, grew to manhood a strapping young fellow.

Whenever this strong young fellow wanted to improve his mind of rainy evenings he would always grab the sporting paper and read over the Heenan and Sayer fight.

That story just about hit his intellectual capacity in the solar plexus and scored a knock-out with him.

GOOD READING.

It was good reading—the kind that inspires one to noble deeds.

One day the strong young man sent a shilling to the business office of the sporting paper requesting a picture of Sayers and Heenan in ring costume. He'd just as lief have one in colors, but if it could be had for the small sum, but if the publishers had no color plates, black and white would do.

To the strong fellow's intense delight he one day called at the postoffice and got a picture all wrapped and folded.

With a thrill he opened it, and saw it was a color print after some famous master who dissipated his time and genius drawing for the sporting papers, because his artistic temperament wasn't appreciated by the mutts who in, and cross buttock, and block, and upper cut, and play for the wind. He had lumps on his arms and a grand pair of shoulders. All the other strong young men told him that he had the makings of a world beater concealed on his person.

They told him it was a shame for a model young man like him to be wasting his talents and energy in a coal mine. He believed them.

Of evenings the strong young fellow used to coax worn-out miners and stevedores to put the mitts on with him, and then he would go around them like a cooper around a barrel, and trim them brown, and crisp.

THE STRONG YOUNG MAN. After a famous masterpiece by the noted painter of pugilists, Paul Dana.

In due time his friends advised the strong young man that he was good enough to enter the ring right there and then, and after that, top-notchers. The conviction grew among them that he could lick anybody in the world.

ENTERS THE RING.

Finally the strong young man's name was missing on the time card in the mines.

He had secured a manager and blossomed forth as a pugilist. He still looked like Sayers and began to fight his way to the top of the ladder and pugilistic fame.

In time he had cleaned up a few dozen. He mixed scrapers in his own country, and one day his favorite sporting paper printed his picture and the story of his life, for the mere cost of engraving. They said he was the greatest fighter since the days of Sayers, and that it would be a sacrilege to talk of him and Goddard and Starlight and other noted fighters on the same page.

In fact, the sporting editor advised him to do like Sayers and fight an American.

That was just the thing. There was money and glory and "easy marks" in the fighting game in America.

One day the strong young man's name was on the passenger list of a steamer with her prow pointed towards San Francisco.

THE INTERVIEWERS.

Some noted sporting writers got wind of the strong young man's intended invasion.

They wrote for pictures, and began superintended the Palais Royal and other little art archives.

During the day the strong young fellow found intellectual stimulus by making little lumps out of big lumps in a coal mine.

PLEASANT CALLING.

In this pleasant and profitable calling he had formed some intellectual attachments with other strong young men, and he used to invite them up to his room to see the picture of Sayers and Heenan (in colors).

Being as he was the strongest of the strong young fellows, his intellectual friends found it convenient to remark the resemblance between the strong young man and Sayers.

The more the strong young fellow thought of it, the firmer he was convinced that he was a dead ringer for Sayer.

Sometimes he would don his fighting togs, and to make sure that the resemblance between himself and Sayers wasn't feeble, he would pin the picture on his chest and pose in front of the looking glass.

RINGER FOR SAYERS.

So far as he could see, he believed that, had he lived in London in the time of Sayers, he would have looked so much like that fighter's twin brother that he would have been pinched for impersonating a male person.

Finally the strong young man got a set of boxing gloves. When he grew ennuied from reading the glowing account or gazing at the masterpiece (in colors), the strong young man would seek repose in a bout with one of his fellows.

NOTHING TO IT.

There was nothing to it. He could slip it over the other boys with great ease. By carefully reading and following the directions in a paper-covered edition of "The Manly Art of Self-Defense" the strong young fellow learned to jab, and counter, and bore fighter. He combed his hair like Sullivan, had elbows like Jeffries and tied his shoes like George Dawson.

Finally the strong young fellow took training quarters. Just to show that he was the square, the strong young fellow didn't challenge Jeffries first. He knew he could lick Jeffries, but he wanted the American public to see him in action against some lesser light first.

His manager was a wise fellow and he picked out a man they said didn't have a punch.

The papers played the strong young man up so hard that the public made him a favorite.

One young man told his manager that the strong young fellow looked like the best coal heaver he ever saw. Of course he was only a knocker, and didn't know much about the game.

DAY OF FIGHT.

Finally the day of the fight rolled around. There were moving picture machines and a large crowd on hand.

The strong young fellow entered the ring and posed. He tried to look as near like Sayers as he could.

Finally the intended victim entered the ring. He was a short chubby chap. The strong young fellow looked at him. He asked his seconds to telegraph the Governor of the State to stop the fight. Although he was a pugilist, the strong young fellow had humane instincts and didn't want to kill anybody. His seconds told the strong young man it was a holiday and that the Governor couldn't get out an injunction.

CROWD CHEERS.

The crowd cheered the strong young man as he entered the ring. He wore green trunks and looked like a living ad for some physical culture magazine.

The intended victim put on the gloves he looked over at the strong young man and said he looked like a nice young fellow.

Finally the gong sounded. The strong young man stood up like Sayers, while the intended victim crouched and held his head in a terror. Oh, the hard vicious expression on that face as he hid his head and looked intently at the strong young man's feet. This was rather an undubious thing to do as the strong young man had not been accustomed to box with people who looked at his feet. He wondered if there was anything the matter with his fighting shoes. Seeing that it was up to him to put the intended victim down quickly, he showed him that any fighter who looked at his opponent's feet knew nothing about boxing. The strong young fellow rushed. He saw that his opponent was afraid of him, and that he wouldn't so his own gloves began to hysterically chatter the atmosphere.

LIGHT TURNED OUT.

Suddenly somebody turned off the light. They threw cold water on him, pushed the ammonia bottle under his nose and stuck a knife blade under his finger nails. Finally the strong young man began to show signs of life, and he gazed dazedly at his faithful seconds.

"How sweet the silence," he murmured, and look at "Pim McGrath trying to ride a little red cow with green silken tangles."

Cheer up, assured "Pim McGrath, his chief second. He didn't treat you fair. He hit you while you were posing for your picture."

"That's so," responded the strong young fellow, "did I hurt him much?"

"A little," said McGrath, not wishing to spring the whole truth at once.

"You say he hit me?" asked the strong young man.

"Yes."

"With a bat?"

"We couldn't tell. He was in such a hurry."

And back at the mines their is a familiar name on the book of applications for positions wanted.

Moral: In choosing an intended victim it is good to recollect the sporting adage, "You Can't Always Sometimes Tell."

Joe Rose is looking at Sheephead Bay.

Walter Jennings and his friends made a clean-up on the win of Confederate recently.

E. G. Randall, treasurer of the Los Angeles Jockey Club, was at Latonia. In speaking of the outlook for racing next winter at Ascot Park, he said: "A meeting will surely be held. It may not begin as early as heretofore, but we will run up to the same time that we did this season." Mr. Randall also said that the Arcadia proposition is apparently falling flat and it will be some time before the track will be built.

E. R. Bradley, it is said, has decided to present Bad News to Tom Sharkey, the pugilist. New York horsemen will pity Sharkey.

Jockey L. Williams was badly needed at Latonia. Outside of Jockey Lee, the riding material is much on the blink.

PAIR OF "JOES" ARE APT TO MEET FOR BIG TITLE

They Are Not "Joes" in the Ordinary Sense, However, but Brilliant Pugilists--Gossip.

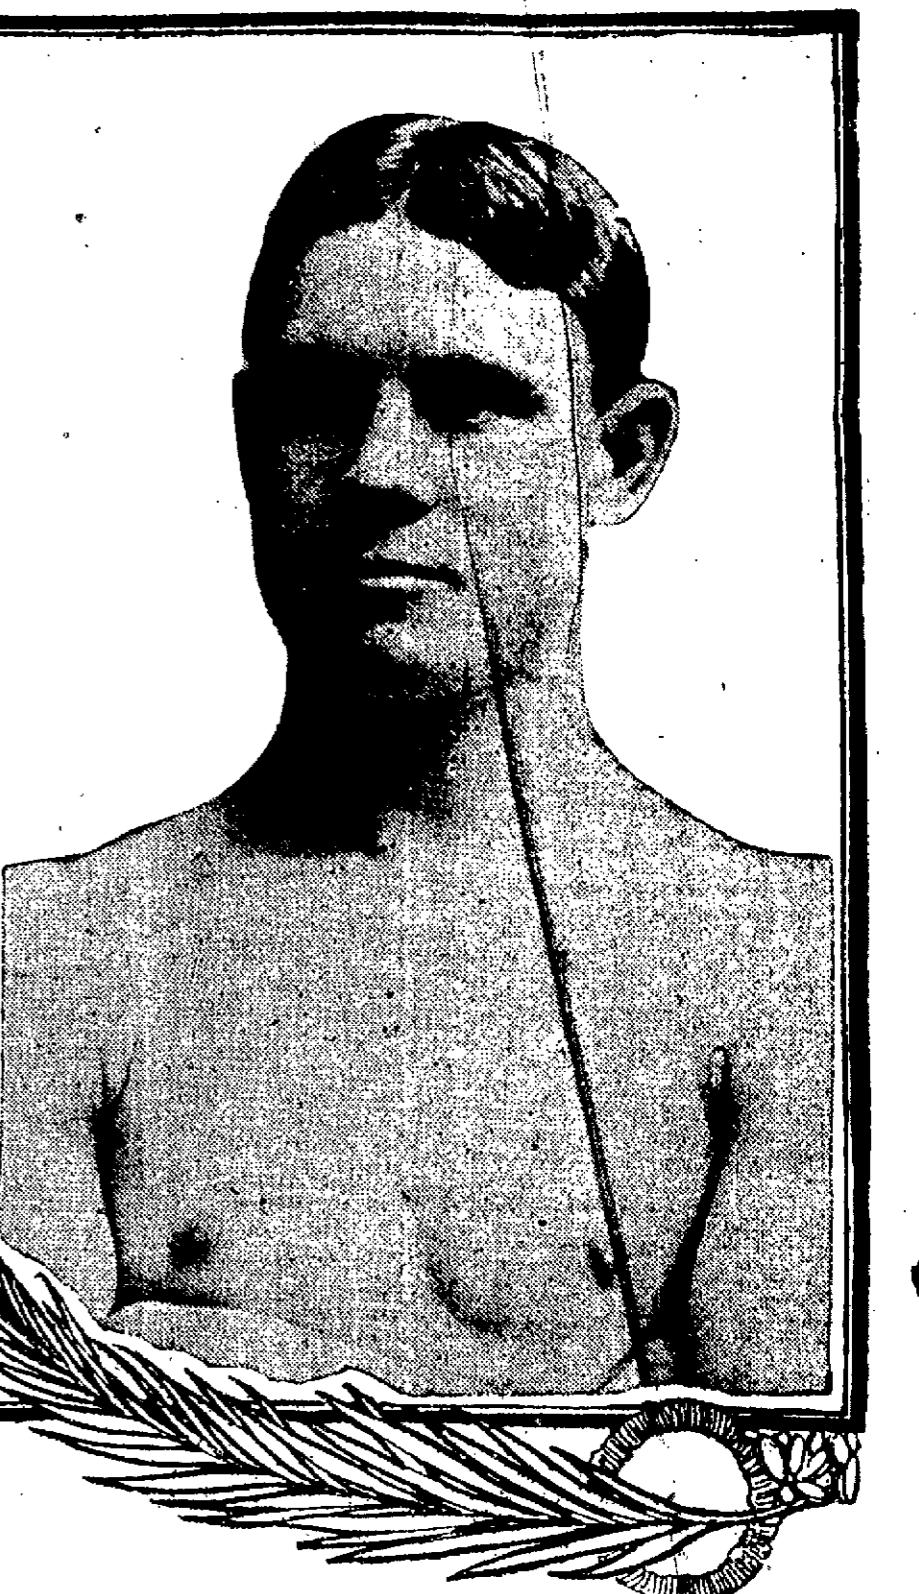

By EDDIE SMITH.

When Joe Thomas had dressed himself after the fight with Kid Ketchell at Marysville he was asked by one of his friends how he felt over the fight and the decision. His answer was rather surprising. "Now I will be able to get a fight or two," was the reply.

It was generally expected that Joe's next fight would be a return match with Ketchell, as the boy from Montana made such a good showing against him that it would be an excellent card.

carries with him at all times," said the ex-champion. "He kept going around Burns to the left, and at all times was jabbing him flush in the face with straight lefts with little fear of a return from that dangerous right."

Sullivan no doubt has the best of intentions in his challenge, but it is the opinion of the writer that he would find a different man in the champion than the one he fought at Los Angeles almost two years ago. He would find a

JOE THOMAS, who is to fight Joe Evans in the near future.

Last night, however, Ben Selig acting for Gans, Coffroth for his club and Thomas for himself met at the Willis and agreed to fight at Colma at a date to be decided on Wednesday night. It is highly probable that the date will be fixed for either September 2 or 9.

The rounds will be out from 45 to 25, and while this may not appeal to the uninitiated, it will have a tendency to make the men fight the faster if the contest be a long one, and consequently the fans will get a better fight while it lasts.

The men will fight for 50 per cent of the gate receipts. The division of the purse and the referee for the contest will be decided on next Wednesday night, but as both men have no fault to find with any of the recognized referees on the coast there will be little to worry over.

The only thing that might possibly bring a hitch is the weight. Gans, who will be giving away some weight, will want the weighing to be 145 at ring side, while Thomas will no doubt want it to be 145 a few hours before the contest.

This match has been hanging fire for some time and if arranged will practically settle the welter weight title. Gans for some time was the recognized champion, but after the fight with Nelson and Herman he announced that he was satisfied with the light weight title and that he would relinquish all claim to the welter weight title to Joe Thomas, who had beaten Thomas by a knockout in the title which Honey had claimed.

Joe is unable to keep busy in his own class and for that reason has taken on the handloap match with Thomas.

It is no news that Gans to fight bigger men than himself, for not long ago he beat Mike (Twin) Sullivan, who is rated as one of the best of the welterers. He also boxed a draw, in which it is agreed that he had a shade the best of the going, with Joe Walcott.

Thomas has been unlucky in the fight game, in that he has never been able to get a fight with a large purse at stake. He has carried the championship title for the past year, yet, owing to the scarcity of men at his weight, he was compelled to go to Marysville and fight an unknown for a small purse.

Jack (Twin) Sullivan is the latest to challenge Tommy Burns since his fight with Squires. Jack has posted with the sporting editor of a Boston paper $1000 to go as a forfeit for the match and also says if Burns so desires he can have him as a side bet.

Sullivan has a decision over Burns which he won at the end of a twenty-round contest at Los Angeles in October of 1905. Burns has always claimed that he was wronged by Joe Walcott, and that he was not at his best when Charlie Eytan gave the decision against him.

Sullivan now offers to fight the champion at catch weights, which would mean that Burns would have about ten pounds the best of the weight.

Sullivan in his challenge to the champion will be backed up by no less a personage than Jim Jeffries, who to the writer the other day said he thought Jack (Twin) Sullivan had the best chance of any of the present day fighters to beat the Kanuck.

Jeff's is of the opinion that Sullivan has the champion well sized up and knows his every move.

"When Sullivan fought Burns in Los Angeles he never gave Tommy a chance to shoot over that right, giving that he man with confidence in himself and his punches and one who would enter the ring at least 50 per cent a better man than he was when the air last met.

Burns announced last night that he would not only fight Squires in a return match, but that he would fight any of the men in the game if the proper inducements are made.

Asked if he would take a Jack Johnson, he replied that he had no desire to fight the big colored man, but if the promoters showed him where there was enough money in sight he would take him on.

Jim Jeffries has again announced that he has retired from the game of flat cuffs, and that the ring will never again see him as a principal in a championship contest.

This was unnecessary, Mr. We know that all the time, and then you announced from the ring that you were sorry that Squires did not win because if he had you would have been able to pick up a good piece of money by betting him to lose.

We know you don't like the game, and that you don't want to fight, so don't try and tell us you are sorry you did not get the chance.

It may be interesting to note that Jeff watched Squires work for just three minutes at his training camp and that he walked out of the gymnasium and said to Dick Adams, with whom he was stopping at the Gibson Hotel in Oakland that Squires would prove a quince and Burns would beat him easy.

Metropolitans Win the Cup

CLEVELAND, July 9.—The team of the Metropolitan Golf Association won the Olympic team cup yesterday. The totals for the Metropolitan team were Archie Reid, 166; Fred Herroch, 161; J. D. Travers, 162; W. J. Travis, 162. Total, 651.

The Western Golf Association team, present holders of the cup, were second with a total of 649 strokes.

Jerome Travers' beautiful play did much to bring home the cup to his association. His totals were 77 for the morning play and 85 for the afternoon with a fierce wind blowing. Chandler Egan played badly during the afternoon taking ten strokes for the 15th hole and totaling 88.

The Hawthorn Athletic Club of San Francisco was granted a permit by the Police Commissioners of that city to hold a boxing show at Dreamland Rink on the night of July 9.

The pugilism was presented by Supervisor Furcy and after a little delay the necessary permit was granted.

Olympics Win Over Oakland

The lacrosse players of the Olympic Club defeated the Oakland lacrosse team at San Jose last Sunday by a score of 14 goals to 6.

The Commuters were handicapped by having Peterson injured in the first five minutes of play. The Olympics showed a wonderful improvement over their last out, and were clearly the best team on the day's playing.

Minto and Sealton scored most of the goals for the winners, while Clarkson gained four points for Oakland.

The players were entertained after the game by the members of the San Jose Canadian Club. Score of the game by quarters:

First—Olympics 4, Oakland 1.
Second—Olympics 2, Oakland 3.
Third—Olympics 2, Oakland 1.
Fourth—Olympics 5, Oakland 0.

Interesting Notes About Racing—Matter By LEE DEMIER

GOSSIP

High-class cards will be decided at the different race courses this afternoon much to satisfy their appetite and ample field for speculation.

The Cincinnati Trophy for two-year-olds is the attraction at Latonia, and a clever field of youngsters will strive for honors. The six-furlong handicap, third on the card, and a purse affair at a mile and one-sixteenth have attracted select fields. At Windsor a four-cornered race will create the most excitement, and at the Meadows six selling affairs composed of the better class of nag give promise of furnishing some rattling good sport.

GERONIMO IS GETTING BAD
Famous Old Fighter Tries to Break Away From Reservation to Help His People Fight.

CHICAGO, July 9.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Cache, Oklahoma, says:
The old Apache warrior, Geronimo, who terrorized the Southwest for many years with his blood-thirsty band, while attending a celebration at Cache under parole as the guest of the Commanche chief, Quanah Parker, made an attempt to escape across the Texas panhandle into New Mexico.
Geronimo was missed from the Indian camp for about eight hours, and a detail of soldiers from Fort Sill captured him several miles out of Cache yesterday. The old warrior had heard of the troubles of Apaches in Arizona, who, according to reports, have threatened to go out on the warpath. The chief says he wanted to go with his people and help them fight. He has been having family troubles lately, his eighth wife hav-
Recently he drank liquor to excess and lay out of the reservation all night. This incensed the church-going people. Geronimo recently joined the Dutch Reformed church, to which President Roosevelt belongs, in the hope, it is said, of obtaining a pardon.

WEST OAKLAND, July 9.—With the passing of aged James Rhodes, bay wrecker, who died Sunday at 1900 Gossard street, the present and future Coroner of Alameda county, will have to depend on others to find bodies of drowned persons along the bay shore. Rhodes was found Sunday in his rowboat, unconscious, and in a dying condition. Three hours later he died. For more than twenty years Rhodes had gained a presiding position in the bay. He added to his income by finding and reporting to the Coroner the bodies of drowned persons. According to Henry Quellen, who has been Coroner's assistant many years, Rhodes found not fewer than twenty-five or thirty drowned persons during his career as a boatman.
These included the accidentally drowned,
suicides and murdered persons. Daily

WITHOUT WARNING.
Just before the tragedy, Wittman, Rasso and Mrs. Smith were sitting in the dining-room. Rasso was ready to go to work and the other two were getting about his clothing.
Wittman drew a revolver and fired into the back of his wife. Rasso dodged and the bullet grazed the skin on the right side of his breast. He turned and ran out of the house, closing the door after him as he went.
As Rasso turned to flee, Mrs. Smith sprang up and made a grab for the weapon. Wittman, who was in the room second time and shot off the end of her first finger on the right hand. She then ran from the room, and Wittman in pursuit. He fired at her twice, one of the bullets missing her and the other striking her in the back, inflicting a flesh wound only.
Mrs. Smith, not knowing that her assault had returned to the dining-room, and thinking that he was still following her, ran up stairs and climbed to the roof of a veranda, through a rear window. From there she climbed to the roof of the house.
Meantime Wittman had given up the chase, placed the weapon to his left temple and fired the two shots left in the revolver, killing himself instantly.

PROMOTION FOR FRANK A. LEACH
Will be Appointed Director of Mints to Succeed George E.
Roberts.

The announcement that Frank A.
Leach of this city, for the last nine years superintendent of the San Francisco Mint, is to be promoted in the public service, will be received with pleasure by his many friends. Secretary Cortelyou has referred to President Roosevelt Mr. Leach's appointment to succeed George E. Roberts as Director of the United States Mints.
This title conveys jurisdiction over all the United States Mints. Mr. Roberts is to retire to go into the banking business in Chicago.
Mr. Leach was first appointed superintendent of the San Francisco Mint by the late President, William McKinley. At the expiration of his four years' term President Roosevelt renewed Mr. Leach in the position.
Many testimonials are offered illustrating the exceptionally good record achieved by Mr. Leach. When Director Roberts was in San Francisco investigating the $30,000 robbery of the mint, he took occasion to praise Leach, asserting that the San Francisco Mint was the most efficiently conducted institution under his jurisdiction.
The resourcefulness displayed by Leach during the earthquake and fire also elicited praise from his superiors in Washington. He was credited with having saved the mint from destruction.
When Director Roberts decided to leave the Government service and was asked as to the fitness of certain persons to succeed him he strongly recommended Leach.
It is understood here that Senators Peters and Pitt have been consulted regarding the proposed appointment.
Both have warmly approved it. Leach was made superintendent of the San Francisco Mint on the recommendation of Peters.
When seen at his residence on Hobart street with regard to his appointment Mr. Leach said: "The announcement of my selection as Director of Mints came as a complete surprise to me. I had previously no advice from Washington on the subject and had not sought the office. The tender is certainly gratifying to me. In taking it, I will necessarily have to move to Washington, and shall regret leaving the Pacific Coast."
Daniel T. Cole, colonel at the Mint retired yesterday afternoon and turned his office over to August M. Jones, chief senator and attorney at law, of Stockton.

Life or Death in Syphilis

NEVER permit yourself to be treated by any one but a PERFECTLY competent and HONEST physician if you at all sus-have what is termed the "incurable" sore—a chancre—keep away from the quick as you would from CERTAIN DEATH. The usual method employed by these ENEMIES TO LIFE is to destroy the CHANCE but let the POISON REMAIN IN THE BLOOD. What does that mean? It means nothing more—nothing less—than living death. If you have even a suspicion that you are infected come for free examination. We drive the very last tint of virus out of your system—we leave your system entirely purified. If you could but see some of the TERRIBLE CASES we are compelled to treat from day to day you would not wonder at our earnestness in this matter. They are all due to the fake treatment given

NOW DOCTORS SAY:
"DON'T DRUG"
No doctor can cure all diseases.
That's a fact. Moonshine. They are pretenders.
If you can't cure a man, tell him
so.
Physicians use too many drugs.
There are only a few great drugs worth handling—I'll name them.
—Dr. Wm. Osler in a recent address to physicians.
I do not believe that the average human life would be distributed by all the drugs of Christendom were dumped
into the sea—barring, perhaps,
half a dozen.
—Allied
well, M. D. American Humane Association.

At last, some of our eminent physicians are beginning to tell the truth about drugs.
They have described the people
just about as long as they can, unless they "cheat."
The advance
science it is argued that man
"shows them up."
It has proved
that man's body
is electric, and
that electricity
runs our bodies and produces what we call life. It has shown that most all sickness and chronic disorders are due to a lack of electrical energy.
It has shown that the electrical system of the body is the most important and that they are only poisons, poisons and poisons don't cure.
The reason drugs don't cure is because they do not help Nature.
Nature needs electricity, nourishment, something that builds up the system, no nourishment—no electricity—just poison which tears down.
My way of curing is to restore electricity where it is needed, and pain and sickness will disappear.
That's because electricity gives strength, power to the body, enabling every organ to perform its work properly, and when every organ is in a strong, healthy condition there can be no pain or sickness.
Wear Electro-Vigor while you sleep. It feeds a constant stream of electricity to your nerves, and

TWO COUPLES IN WARFARE STIR TWO NEIGHBORHOODS

CHASES SPOUSE
THROUGH ROOMS

AGED HUSBAND
IN LIVELY ROLE

BERKELEY, July 9.—H. C. Parkinson of 2432 Hilgard avenue called on the police last evening to quell a disturbance in that neighborhood. Sergeant Woods sent Patrolman McClintic to the scene and he states that he found that Henry O. Schacht and wife of 2436 Hilgard avenue were having a quarrel in which the neighborhood was obliged to listen to vile language from Mrs. Schacht. Patrolman McClintic says that Mrs. Schacht was intoxicated, was chasing her husband about the house, he endeavoring to dodge articles thrown with uncertain aim. Mrs. Schacht was calling Schacht names and the officer, not found in the dictionary. McClintic knocked on the door and ordered Mrs. Schacht to stop her noise. The irate woman then grabbed a telephone, called the station and in an angry tone told Sergeant Woods her troubles, venting spite on the officer, who was powerless, being on the outside without rights to enter. Finally Mrs. Schacht decided to go to bed and the noise ceased.

BERKELEY, July 9.—At 5 o'clock this morning Harvey Knoell of 1519 Addison street telephoned police headquarters that a man and woman living at 1422 Addison street, near Sacramento street, were disturbing the peace of the neighborhood by fighting and screaming. Patrolman H. P. Lee rushed to the scene and he says that he found Mrs. John Hart fighting drunk, screaming at the top of her voice, and her husband, an old man, holding her by the wrists in an endeavor to stop the noise. The old man was remonstrating with the infuriated woman, denouncing her for being out half of the night, and demanding an explanation. This Mrs. Hart refused and Hart decided to administer punishment. This caused the screams and vile language. Patrolman Lee cautioned the couple relative to the noise they were making at the early hours and Hart promised to leave his wife alone if she would be good.

DENY ORCHARD TALE OF DEATH

Affidavits Declares Gas Blew Up
Bradley Flat, Not Dynamite.

BOISE, July 9.—With the prospect that another full day would have to be given over to the reading of the San Francisco depositions covering the explosion at the apartments of Fred W. Bradley in that city in November, 1904, there were few spectators in court this morning when the trial of William D. Hayward was resumed. Senator Borah, who on yesterday divided the task of reading with Attorney Clarence Darrow of the defense, in disposing this morning and the prosecution's portion of the burden fell on Hawley. Today began with a continuance of the testimony of J. E. Bell, who lived near the Bradley apartments. Bell declared he had passed the house but a few minutes before the explosion and saw a Japanese servant cleaning the stoop and vestibule. He did not believe it was within the range of possibility for anyone to have placed a bomb there in the manner indicated by Orchard in the time which elapsed between his passing and the report of the explosion. Orchard testified that after placing the bomb he boarded a street car and got out of hearing before the explosion occurred.

The next deposition taken up was that of Charles Packard, who, Mrs. Crow, had been employed by the Bradleys as cook. She told of having smelled gas in the house for several days prior to the explosion and had reported the gas company to complain of it.

Mrs. Crow denied absolutely that she had gone to the theater with Orchard as he testified. She said he told a falsehood when he testified to that effect.

STOP TESTIMONY.
After recess the defense asked to be allowed to place Alvah A. Swain of Denver on the stand because of the desire of the witness to return home. Swain is in the employ of a newspaper, and Mr. Darrow stated the object in calling him was to show that the Pinkerton detective agency, through James McFarland, in furtherance of the conspiracy between the Mine Owners' Association and the Pinkertons, had endeavored to procure false evidence against the eastern Federation of Miners. Judge Wood sustained an objection and the witness was not allowed to testify at this time.

JAP WAS EXCITED.
Mrs. Josephine Linforth, wife of the owner of the apartment house, made one of the affidavits read today. She told of the excitement of the Japanese servant who had been cleaning the front stoop just a few minutes before the explosion occurred.

John J. Eickelman, a member of the San Francisco fire department, who was with the company which responded to the fire alarm following the explosion, and in snuffing gas strongly when he arrived at the scene. The explosion was not a sharp report, as he remembered it, but a loud roar.

FIREMEN TESTIFY.
Several other members of the fire department gave testimony similar to that of Eickelman. One of these, John W. Parry, said he had had considerable experience with dynamite explosions and they differed in sound and effect from that at the Bradley apartment. All of the firemen said they heard but one explosion.

Parry declared that the explosion was louder than most gas explosions he had heard.

Joseph Vincent De La Vega, an attorney of San Francisco, who occupied the apartment directly under the Bradleys, told in his deposition of having smelled gas in the vestibule of the house for six or seven days prior to the explosion.

NEW PLAYERS AT THE THEATERS

Columbia, Liberty and Idora All Draw Fair Monday Night
Audiences.

The Bishop Company gave a fine representation last night of a first-class modern English comedy, "The Liars" is the title and the author, Henry Arthur Jones. The great critic and playwright Bernard Shaw says of Jones: "He does not make his dramas out of pieces of paper stuck together. This particular work is one of his best distinctly original, technique nearly perfect, but undoubtedly made to please the Anglo-Saxon. It might be the preamble to a French drama. Sardou would start where Jones left off and made a tragedy of it. "The Liars" is modern in theme and its story hangs around a platonic love affair of Edward Falkner and Lady Jessica Neenan, a divorcee, a haughty aristocrat at the "Star and Garter." The discovery and the lies told to prevent scandal, the inevitable sacrifice and ending, happy, I presume, the lines show a rare charm of speech and at times appeal to the highest sphere of the intellect and better sense. It is clever, well presented and gorgeously staged.

Miss Ann Crewe in the role of Jessica portrays an improbable woman, with a vein of calumny, impudence, and a delicate inflexion of feeling that appeals to her hearers and shows she is thoroughly at home in the role. This is Miss Crewe's second role in Oakland and assures her success in the work to be given her at Liberty. She possesses a personal charm, magnetism and has a thorough artistic temperament. Miss Virginia Thornton as "Lady Tattler" is irresistible, self-possessed and charming. Miss Blanch Douglas as "Beatrice" and Henry C. Mortimer as "Deerfield" are delightful. The play is a comedy that gained applause and was charming in its simplicity. Mortimer did good work in the role of Deerfield. His friend and Henry Shumer also did their roles justice while Lander Stevens as "The Liars" will be played all this week and will be followed by "The Progress of Love" in the dramatic line. A fine opportunity to contrast the work of two distinct schools of English modern drama by MACKAY SUTHERLAND.

COLUMBIA THEATER.
The Monday-night audience at the Columbia Theater was an eye-opener to the management for it was the second largest since the opening of the house. Monday night is an off time for theatergoers, but there seems to be an exception at the Columbia. The play, "The Progress of Love," has got all that was coming to it in the way of patronage and as a result the managers are well pleased. The business this week promises to be even better than the opening week. There is no reason why the Columbia, if well handled, should not make large money. It must be remembered that this is the dull season of the year for theatrical business.

MACDONOUGH THEATER.
"Tempest Fossed" was the drama given last night by Walter Sanford and his dramatic company at the Macdonough Theater. The play proved to be an entertaining story of life among the fishermen of the Maine coast. In many ways it reminds one of "Way Down East," and many other types of character are presented. "Cy Long," the one-legged sailor, "Polly Perkins," the village belle, are humorous creations, while the somber tones are furnished by "Jabez Haggard," the drunken fisherman. The plot deals with the lives of "Tom Preston," an honest fisherman, and his sister, "Nelly." Here the story is similar to that of "Little Emily" in David Copperfield. Nelly has been made the victim of a polished villain from Boston, in the person of Richard Wentworth, who after seducing her into a secret marriage, then seeks to make away with her. The disappearance of "Nelly" and the accusation of "Tom" with the murder of "Jabez Haggard" furnish the dramatic theme of the play. The working out of the plot, the final clearing of "Tom" from all blame, is the success of the succeeding acts. There are many beautiful scenes to the play and a fine mechanical effect. This is the wreck and rescue on the open sea. Two boats are seen laboring with the waves. The final sinking of the one and the rescue of the heroine by the other, is most realistic and causes several curtain calls.

Mr. Sanford was all that could be desired in the title role, and excellent support was given by Messrs. Wray, Henderson, Clancy and Dunbar. Miss Laura Hudson as the picturesque fisher girl, "Mary Haggard" was an attractive picture, and proved clever in the dramatic scenes. Alida von Becker was excellent as "Polly Perkins."

THE BELL.
James and Sadie Leonard and Dick Anderson present a sketch entitled, "Mile. Manhattan" at the Bell this week, the opening performance being given yesterday afternoon and the sketch is so original, so capably acted that it is intensely interesting. It turns from heavy tragedy to light comedy in a second and the audience is kept crossed between sorrow and laughter. The three members of the little company are very capable performers. They have a good act and they know how to present it.

The Burkes, with a singing and dancing turn and novelty piano playing, secured a distinct hit yesterday and as their act is worthy they will undoubtedly repeat the success at every performance this week. Miss Burke is a pretty girl, has a good voice and knows how to use it. Mr. Burke is more or less of a comedian and knows all the tricks that can be learned on a piano. Miss Cantarrell has an operatic soprano voice and sings with rare feeling and finesse. Clever Conkey, the juggling comedian, is no so terribly clever, but still his act helps to round out an altogether excellent bill.

IDORA PARK.
"The Highwayman" is on its second week's run at popular Idora Park. The play is well staged and the parts are cast to suit the general public. This will be the last week of the interesting opera at the park.

One can find all kinds of attractions at Idora Park.
